The Davis Song
Painted Legs
Another Crow—Bryan
Some Can't Wear Them
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1924, Star Co.

THE FIRST John W. Davis campaign song goes:

John W. Davis, he will save us,
He will save us, he will save us;
John W. Davis, he will save us,
Next November, boy!

That sounds more like a hymn than a campaign song. It doesn't swing like Champ Clark's "You've got to stop kicking my dog around," or sound as convincing as:

March boy, march, and hold
The banner high,
For Hayes and Wheeler, we'll
Go marching by.

LADIES' OF DEAUVILLE paint their legs instead of wearing stockings. Patterns can be achieved with paint that stockings cannot produce. This is mistakenly called a "new craze." It is the oldest fashion. Lady bipeds of the human tribe painted their legs and the rest of their bodies tens of centuries before they ever took the inside of a patient silk worm to cover themselves.

JOHN W. DAVIS' speech is over and it is all about honesty. You read it all, of course. Unlike La Follette, Mr. Davis avoids mentioning the Ku Klux Klan by name. Whether this will help or hurt remains to be seen.

Klansmen know that he was pointing at them. Violent anti-Klan voters will ask, "Why didn't you NAME them?" It's hard to please everybody.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN'S brother is running for Vice-President. W. J. B. solemnly praises John W. Davis as a first-class "Progressive." After the statement that Mr. Bryan made before the nomination, describing Mr. Davis as the one man that COULD NOT POSSIBLY BE NOMINATED, you admire his brotherly devotion, and you hear him say, under his breath, "Bring on another crow, and I will eat that, too."

LIVINGSTON PARISH in Louisiana fines young ladies $5 that wear "pants." That is what the law calls them. It also prohibits one-piece bathing suits and "petting" parties, whatever they may be.

KNICKERBOCKERS are sensible, worn at the right time, but they are not for every female figure.

In the North you see hundreds of young women in knickerbockers that remind you of the stone wall built by the honest farmer, "Three feet high, three feet wide, so that if it blows over it will be just the same." Some young ladies in knickerbockers would look about the same if they blew over. But why fine the poor creatures? Many are fining themselves to the value of one husband.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, answering the request of Mr. Rosenzweig, of "The Jewish Forum," for a communication about the Jewish New Year, says of Jews what is true and the best that can be said of any people. "They have won their way because they have proved their genius for fine co-operation in the common interest."

A HOLLANDER is on his way to Marseilles, a distance of 700 miles. To win a bet he must travel all the way turning somersaults. Starting in November, 1923, he has until next February 22 to finish the trip. About two million somersaults will cover the distance. The man is well padded, and seems quite happy, like many that think as he travels, also in somersaults.

MR. HILLQUIT, leader of Socialists, says: "La Follette is only a revolt symbol." He may be that to Hillquit, but he is more to the citizens of several States that will give him more votes than to both the old parties combined. The average man, who doesn't know the difference between Karl Marx and Karl Schurz, sees in La Follette an American trying to remedy conditions in an American way.

HOW FINE is the dust in the air? Ten thousand particles of coal smoke dust, scientists tell you, weigh one milligram. Four

"Wage Raise Means Higher Fares," Elevated Says

CONSTANT GUARD TO FOIL THIERY SUICIDE

'EL' FIGHTS PAY RAISE; WANTS CUT

Counsel Barnum Says an Increase to 95 Cents an Hour Means Higher Fares

Higher wages for the men of the Boston Elevated will mean an increase in fares or curtailment in service, H. Ware Barnum, general counsel for the road, today warned the arbitration board in the wage dispute at the State House.

The board consists of Judge John D. McLaughlin of the Superior court, neutral member and chairman, Attorney Charles W. Mulcahy for the Elevated and James H. Vahey, attorney for the carmen's union.

In his opening statement, Attorney Barnum declared that the present agreement under which the men received 70 cents an hour expired July 1, 1924.

ASKS FIVE CENT CUT.

The company now asks that a new agreement for one year be drawn up at an hourly reduction of five cents.

On the other hand the employes insist that an increase of 25 cents an hour be granted over the present rate, bringing the wage to 95c an hour.

"The question of wages," Barnum said, "does not concern the investors at all. The act under which the trustees are operating fixes returns."

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

He contended that the real issue is what is a fair and just rate for the men to receive and for the car riders to pay. If the 10-cent fare yields more than enough to pay dividends and other charges and expenses, fares can be reduced after assessments have been refunded to the various communities.

Between 6,700 and 7,500 employes and 1,250,000 car riders are affected in the arbitration proceedings, he stated, and one-half of each fare goes into wages.

As an instance of the desirability of employment, Barnum stated that whereas the labor turnover in the old days amounted to one-half of the force each year, today a man has to die or be discharged for some good cause before a vacancy exists.

Edward Dana, general manager of the road, was then introduced as the first witness.

BIND TWO IN GARAGE HOLDUP

Four Bandits Steal Alcohol and Auto in Chelsea and Dodge Police Bullets

Four men, armed with automatic pistols, early today held up and robbed the Eden Street Garage, Chelsea, of a load of alcohol and an automobile, ran the gauntlet of a fusilade of shots from a policeman, and escaped.

The robbers tied up Arthur Mallian, night man, at the garage, together with William McBride, a friend who was with him, and tossed them into the tonneau of a machine.

FIND STOLEN CAR.

The stolen automobile, minus the alcohol, was later abandoned in East Boston, and recovered by the police. It is owned by Edward Lewis of Everett street, Chelsea.

The four men, all wearing soft hats, rode up to the garage in a Packard automobile, the registration plates of which had been removed. Mallian and McBride were in the office. Before they realized what was happening three men armed with pistols appeared before them and commanded them to put up their hands and keep quiet.

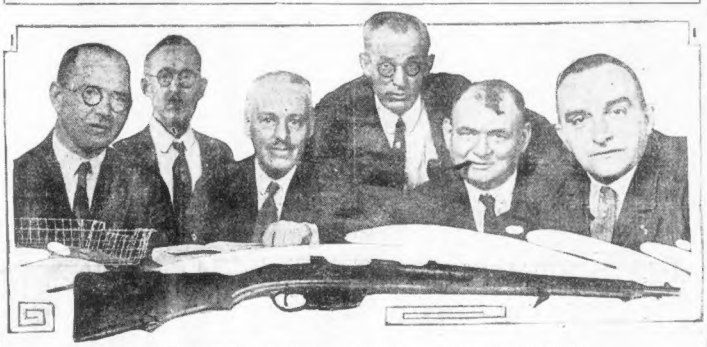
While one of the gunmen held the drop on the victims, the others bound them with rope taken from their car, and then the two were dropped into the back of a machine in the garage.

PATROLMAN FIRES SHOTS.

After the two garagemen were disposed of, the robbers' car was driven inside. The gunmen went to the alcohol, which was in a private machine. They placed it in their own car and after a brief conference one of the gunmen climbed in behind the wheel of a Cadillac touring car and both machines drove away.

A short time later Patrolman Frank Lamb of Division 7, saw two cars, one without lights, speeding along Chelsea street, East Boston. He commanded them to halt and when they failed to do so, fired two shots, apparently without effect. Later the Cadillac was found abandoned.

WRESTLING WITH MURDER MYSTERY



SLEUTHS AND EXPERTS AT WORK ON NOBLE TRAGEDY

The Austrian rifle found in the Thiery home and which the experts said was the weapon used to kill David N. Noble, Somerville realtor. Left to right, the men are: State Officer John Stokes, Wilbur Turner, hand writing expert; Lieutenant Thomas Damery, Somerville police; Captain Charles Van Amberg, gun expert; Lieutenant M. F. Kennedy, Somerville police, and State Officer Joseph Ferraro.

POLICE AT DOCTOR'S BEDSIDE

Extra Precautions Taken to Prevent Any Attempt at Self-Destruction

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, who is under arrest at Massachusetts General Hospital, charged with the murder of his brother-in-law, David Noble, is being guarded day and night against any possible attempt at suicide.

Although the friends look at the action the police admit they fear he will attempt self-destruction.

The prisoner's own peculiar condition since he was taken to the hospital is responsible for the extraordinary precautions being taken to keep him alive.

He insisted on an operation for hernia against the advice of experienced surgeons. The operation revealed no trace of hernia.

The operation is a very serious one and has left him weak and in a condition requiring the most delicate care on his own part as well as on the part of his nurses.

KNOWS HE'S WATCHED.

Any unadvised exertion might open the partially healed cuts and cause him to bleed to death internally, under the very eyes of the watchers.

As a physician, he knows that Patrolman Lacey, on the day watch at the bedside of the prisoner, and Patrolman Grossman, on the night watch, are following his every movement closely.

Traces of veronal have been found in the accused physician's stomach, according to detectives, heightening the suspicion that he is prepared to kill himself.

It is considered significant that Thiery recently asked that his safety razor, finger nail file and other edged toilet accessories be brought to him to the hospital. The authorities denied his request. They did not explain the refusal.

Dr. Thiery was questioned again today, Lieutenant Damery of the Somerville police, and Detective

WIFE STEALS AWAY, DROWNS HERSELF

Stealing from her husband's side while he slept, Mrs. Matilda Johnson of No. 12 Fern road, Medford, today committed suicide by drowning.

Her body was found hours later, floating on Wright Pond, which is only a few hundred feet from her home.

When her husband awoke he found a brief suicide note. It said this she was weary of battling ill health and could carry on no longer.

Mrs. Johnson was forty years old. She had been in the care of physicians for years. William Myers, a schoolboy, found the body.

MOROCCANS SURROUND SPANISH POSITION

Madrid, Aug. 13 (A.P.)—The military directorate today issued a communique saying the news from Morocco was not satisfactory, that the enemy natives had surrounded another position in the line and that the Spanish troops needed reinforcements.

Heavy fighting in both Spanish and French Morocco was reported from Melilla yesterday, the messages from the interior indicating that the Spanish troops were holding their own, but that the rebels had broken through the French front between Fez and Taza, after defeating and routing the French troops at Ouarga.

MAURETANIA MAKES 25.62 KNOTS AN HOUR

The Mauretania, from Cherbourg to New York, from noon yesterday to noon today made the fastest 24 hours' run ever made by a steamship on the North Atlantic, according to the local Cunard Line office. A Marconigram from Captain Rostron, said the average speed for that period was 25.62 knots an hour. If the speed were maintained the Mauretania would break the record for the North Atlantic westbound passage by seven and a half hours.

BRITAIN SENDS THREE BATTLESHIPS TO SUDAN

London, Aug. 13. (A.P.)—In connection with the trouble in the Sudan the Admiralty has ordered the battleship Marlborough to leave Zara, Dalmatia, for Alexandria. The light cruiser Weymouth, en route for Colombo, Ceylon, was ordered to Port Sudan, where she arrived yesterday, and the sloop Clematis is on her way for the same port.

Seven 10-Foot Snakes Terrorize Steamer Four Days

New York, Aug. 13—Seven ten-foot boaconstrictors, which escaped from their cages and crawled about the ship, kept thirty-two members of the crew, eight passengers and monkeys, macaws and "screamers" on the steamship Bolivar awake and active for four days during the voyage from Colombia, according to Captain L. L. Long, upon arrival of the steamer in port today.

Five of the snakes were captured easily, but two made their way to the outer air and had rolled themselves up in an awning. A sailor discovered their hiding place when one fell at his feet.

COLE, CURLEY TARGETS OF KU KLUX

In today's instalment of "The Confessions of a New England Klansman," the Boston American describes the manner in which a Klavern, the Klan lodge, is formed. It tells of the problem of the K. K. K. organizers, the pioneer work done in virgin territory, and sundry other things.

JAPAN VISITED BY ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE

Tokio, Aug. 13—(A.P.)—An earthquake which shook Western Honsu and Shikoku early today, forced residents to flee from their homes.

Reports from Nagoya say that the water mains there were broken by the temblors, cutting off the water supply and flooding the streets. No casualties have been reported. The disturbances are alarming the citizenry.

Nagoya is the sixth largest and one of the most prosperous cities in Japan. It is located in Owari Province and has 430,000 population.

LONDON CONFERENCE CONTINUES DEADLOCK

London, Aug. 13 (A.P.)—The conference held by French, Belgian and German Representatives in Downing street in an effort to reach a settlement of the Ruhr evacuation problem ended at 1:30 P. M. without reaching a solution. The next meeting of the "big fourteen" will be tomorrow.

LLOYD GEORGE TO GO UNDER KNIFE SHORTLY

Rome, Aug. 13.—The newspaper Nuovo Passe today states that Professor Gervelli, doctor in the Chamber of Deputies and specialist in gland operations, has left Rome for London to assist Dr. Serge Voronoff in an operation on David Lloyd George.

Schurman Coming Here

Peking, Aug. 13 (A. P.)—Jacob Gould Schurman, American minister to China, has left Peking for the United States on a leave of several months.

CONDEMNS U. S. AID TO HONOR DIXIE HEROES

In his address to the G. A. R. today Commander-in-chief Gaylord M. Saltzgaber challenged the right of the South to ask for government funds with which to build monuments to Jefferson Davis and other leaders of the great rebellion.

"What has become of the boasted pride of the Southerners?" he demanded.

"Time was when they said they scorned to ask the aid of the government; they fought in seeking memorials to their heroes. The last Congress passed a law to aid in the construction of a statue to Jefferson Davis and others.

notifying the world that it is that the United States does boast to treason?

"We are glad of the magnanimous treatment accorded by Lincoln and Grant to Southern soldiers. There is no taint to our friendship for those who are within the ranks of the law. But it is going too far when the government extends its aid to the extending of treason.

As General Sherrington is much blind, his address was read by Calvin A. Benhard of New York, national assistant adjutant-general.

The address was given out the opening of the business session of the fifty-eighth encampment in Symphony Hall.

On the platform with the national commander were the following past commanders-in-chief: Judge Albert G. W. Wilbur, John B. Kling, Charles G. Burton, Samuel Rae Stahl and William Gray Rutler, as well as John McElroy of Washington, editor of the National Tribune, and a past senior vice-commander.

During the recess Mayor Curley made a brief talk to the veterans and was roundly applauded.

At the resumption of the secret session the delegates proceeded to the business of the day, which was to include election of officers.

Police and Legion Vainly Try to Find Indiana Man's Lodging

Life in a big city is extremely complicated, not to say complex, according to Comrade Albert McIntyre, an 82-year-old veteran from Indiana.

Comrade McIntyre arrived in Boston Sunday night, and practically ever since has been attempting to find the hotel in which he registered.

The veteran said he "put up" at a hotel where he left his overcoat and travelling bag. Then he went out to see the sights.

The sights proved to be so attractive that Comrade McIntyre did not get around to the idea of seeking coat and travelling bag. Then he couldn't find it.

He called on the police for aid and they responded nobly. An officer was assigned to the veteran, with whom he made a tour of hotels. On Tuesday it seemed that his efforts were crowned with success, and Comrade McIntyre was in a fair way to recover his coat.

The first thing done was to put the exhausted G. A. R. man to bed which was done tenderly and efficiently by the policeman.

Unfortunately a fellow veteran who had accompanied them, discovered it was the wrong place. The Back Bay police then took up the search but without success, and today the American Legion joined in. Up to press time Comrade McIntyre was still shaking his head in bewilderment, and lamenting the loss of his coat.

G. A. R. Sidelights

EX-V. BLACKMAN of Miami, Fla., one of the most interesting members of the G. A. R. in convention here, was a scout in the 9th Cavalry, New York, during the Civil War. Blackman is now scouting news for a Florida newspaper.

"THEY killed two horses under me during the Civil War, but they couldn't hit me," is the story that John M. House of Ashland Post, No. 140, of Wisconsin, another member of the 20th Cavalry, likes to tell. He was present at Lee's surrender.

MRS. Leura C. Inman, national patriotic instructor for the Women's Relief Corps, urges every alien coming here to get out first naturalization papers after being in the country five years. "We want more true Americans in this country and the scabs should be deported," she declared.

COLONEL C. L. Alexander of Hastings, Nebraska, old pal of Buffalo Bill, served in two Iowa regiments during the war. He was one of the pallbearers at the funeral of Colonel William F. Cody. Colonel Alexander has been a state senator in Iowa for a number of years.

CONVENTION veterans are kept informed as to the historic spots of old Boston by Mrs. Drusilla L. Thayer, National President of the Daughters of Veterans.

MISFORTUNE befell John Conlin, a veteran of Bradentown, Fla., when a leg and wrist were broken when he fell on a sidewalk in this city. He is spending the first few days of the convention at city hospital.

HISTORIC spots in Lexington, Concord and Cambridge were viewed by Mrs. Flora M. Howell, Mrs. James Selleck, Mrs. Nellie Carson, Mrs. Nellie Hargrave and Miss Florence Webber, all members of the Nebraska Daughters of Veterans.

DR. NEWTON RECTOR of Hennessey, Okla., who served in the Civil War three years, and Dr. E. H. Cowan of Crawfordsville, Ind., are seeing the sights together. Both have been in medical practice for fifty years. Dr. Cowan was in the 135th Regiment, Indiana.

PAYS CONFIDENCE MEN $1,000 FOR BIT OF GLASS

Handkerchief men who searched diamonds on Albert Dunlap, a lake, at No. 63 Ashton street, got $1,000 from him, defaulted when their cases were called in Central Court today.

The men are Herman Jayes alias Monte and Ring Dobbs, both of New York. Dunlap met them in a bakery. Producing four loose diamonds they offered them for a thousand dollars, and, "to be fair" permitted Dunlap to have one appraised. It was worth $400.

Dunlap drew the cash from the bank and bought the stones. Later he found he had seven pieces of glass.

INMAN FAVORITE FOR G. A. R. LEADER

With its great parade and preliminary exercises disposed of, the 58th National Convention of the G. A. R. got down to business meetings today.

An early session was held at Symphony Hall to receive and refer reports of committees. This was a closed meeting, none but duly accredited delegates being admitted.

Interest today and tomorrow will center in the election of a new commander-in-chief to succeed Gaylord M. Saltzgaber and other national officers.

Bids for the next encampment have been received from San Francisco, Cincinnati, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Philadelphia. Because of the peculiary inducements offered by the first-named city, sentiment appears to favor the Golden Gate.

THREE CANDIDATES.

The three candidates for the office of commander-in-chief are John B. Inman of Springfield, Ill., Dr. Louis F. Arenbery of Uniontown, Pa., and L. F. Hoxk of Los Angeles, Cal. Inman, according to officials at national headquarters at the Hotel Vendome, has the best chance of winning.

The incoming adjutant general and quartermaster general are appointive officers and will be named by the new commander-in-chief but the following national officers are subject to election: Senior vice-commander-in-chief, junior vice-commander-in-chief, surgeon general and chaplain-in-chief.

Wilfred A. Wetherbee, past department commander of the Massachusetts department, is a candidate for senior vice-commander-in-chief. Wetherbee was born in Newton and has been one of the active workers in the Massachusetts Department. He is indorsed by Department Commander Benjamin A. Hunt and a list of past department commanders.

WOMEN IN SESSION.

Although the Navy Yard at Charlestown has been open to visitors during the week, a special program has been arranged for today and officers of the yard are prepared to guide guests to places of interest there.

Simultaneously with the business sessions of the veterans, executive meetings were held by the Women's Relief Corps at Tremont Temple, the Ladies of the G. A. R. at Convention Hall, 82, Hoxton street; the Daughters of Veterans at Paul Revere Hall, Mechanics Building, and the Sons of Veterans at the Hotel Somerset.

Keen interest attaches to the sessions of the first named organizations over the election of a national president. For this honor there are three candidates, Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball of Washington, Mrs. Grace B. Willard of California and Mrs. Catherine McBride Hooter of Indianapolis.

TEARS DEFENCE THEORY OF INSANITY

State Experts Declare Loeb and Leopold Are as Sane as Any Other Murderers

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, nineteen year old prodigies who kidnaped and killed little Bobby Franks "just for a thrill," are as sane as any men who deliberately commit murder, according to Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, first of the State's alienists to start tearing down the carefully built structure of "mental disease" and "emotional inferiority" which the young slayers' lawyers have put up in their defence.

Dr. Patrick gave his opinion soon after court opened today. The defense allowed it to go unchallenged.

The familiar "hypothetical" questions that have featured every court battle alienists ever engaged in, rang through Judge Caverly's courtroom today and it was in response to such hypothetical questioning that the opinion of the noted Chicago psychiatrist was given.

Lawyers for the State presented Dr. Patrick with carefully prepared list of such questions, which contained all of the characteristics and so-called eccentricities of both Loeb and Leopold, as set forth in the reports of the defense alienists and in each instance Dr. Patrick returned the same reply:

"I see no evidence of mental disease from that."

Step by step the State's attorney led Dr. Patrick through all the history of the "hypothetical persons" referred to Loeb and Leopold, how they were abnormally intellectual, how they had phantasies after they went to bed at night, how they had childish dreams—all the circumstances which the defense lawyers have set up in mitigation of the crime.

"Anything abnormal in these phantasies?" asked Assistant State's Attorney S. Barbaro.

PHANTOM WOMEN AND INSURANCE LEERED AT MURDER VICTIM

EPISODES IN LIFE AND DEATH OF DAVID M. NOBLE, SOMERVILLE REALTOR, SKETCHED FROM LATEST DISCLOSURES IN MYSTERY SLAYING

DR. THIERY, HELD AS SLAYER, ONCE 'BROTHER' TO REALTOR

By BERT FORD

Phantom women and insurance policies.

Insurance policies and phantom women.

These tormented David M. Noble, the Somerville murder victim, in his waking hours. They leered at him in his sleep.

They nearly stifled his naturally buoyant, cheerful nature. They blurred his life from student days at Dartmouth and sent him to a premature grave.

They crowded with tragedy the life of the young real estate and insurance broker for whose slaying Dr. Raymond Donald Thiery, his twenty-six year old brother-in-law, interne and patient at Massachusetts General Hospital, stands accused.

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery

And fate smared Dr. Thiery, just out of Harvard Medical School, in a fire caprice when it prompted him to shoot down with an old Austrian army carbine, according to the claims of the State, the husband of his dead sister, Louise, graduate of Wellesley in the Class of 1909.

ONCE LOVED VICTIM

If the evidence gathered by the State and Somerville police is true Dr. Thiery, who once loved Noble as a brother, turned on him with venomous hate fanned by family suspicions of David's love affairs and by fancied wrongs to the memory of his sister, who died in April, and whom the accused slayer worshipped, and tended in her last illness.

Reports that reached Dr. Thiery and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Thiery that the husband of their recently deceased sister and daughter was courting another girl and planned early marriage were groundless, say confidantes of the victim, who was buried yesterday beside his wife in the family lot in Cambridge Cemetery.

FEARED OUTSIDERS

David Noble's love for his baby girl was so intense that he found no room in his lonely heart for a woman as certain persons blamed him.

But others thought there was a woman, say the police, and that she might soon take possession of his affection and his affairs and become sole beneficiary under insurance policies totalling $30,000 or more and that little Eunice and the Thiery family would be elbowed out.

That thought in the rough was what caused tragedy to stalk in the pretty brown cottage in the Spring Hill section of Somerville, a home the attractive exterior and snug furnishings of which are a contradiction of violence and crime.

These sinister elements that smoulder unseen too often account for such tragic convulsions in peaceful New England communities.

NOBLE'S TRAGEDIES

Only intimates knew the truth about Noble. Only intimates knew the tragedy of his life, the pity and pathos of it all. Only they knew how the grim reaper first took his father, a prosperous real estate broker, late of Dorchester, then his mother, and next his only brother Will, younger and more debonnair than the industrious, unostentatious David.

Only intimates knew of the wreck of his private really business in Allston due to the World War and the criticisms and carpings of those to whom young Noble turned for solace.

Following the crumbling of his first business venture Noble's cup of tragedy was filled to overflowing in the death of his wife whom he loved passionately as he did their child.

That blow almost snapped Noble's moral courage, but he set his jaws with the stoicism and grit inherited from Yankee sires and got a job with Harvey E. Frost in Gilman Square, Somerville.

ANGERED THIERY

And as an employe he made good. He worked hard every day. He increased Mr. Frost's business. Customers grew to like Noble and his easy, boyish smile.

The Frosts live in the same house with Mr. and Mrs. Hurst with whom Noble lived more than with the Thiery's since the death of his wife.

Noble did little more than sleep at the Thiery home and this is said to have angered Dr. Thiery and his parents.

It is no secret among intimates of both Noble and the Thiery family that his courtship and marriage to Louise was not to the liking of the girl's parents. They are reported to the Thiery's since the death of his wife.

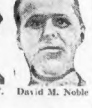
Mrs. Curtis W. Emery



David M. Noble

As head of a realty firm for years the senior Noble acquired a fortune which appears to have dwindled before his death.

There was friction in the Thiery household over these policies, according to the testimony of intimates and again Noble's peace of mind was shattered by insurance policies.

Noble's alleged affair with a married woman in Allston, cousin of his wife, who tried unsuccessfully to compromise him, according to his own stories, was another of his domestic afflictions, but there was a train of phantom women, creatures of suspicion, he used to say.

Mrs. Thiery, senior, wrote letters of protests about some of these women whom she heard linked with her son-in-law's name and affairs.

Developments to Date in Somerville Tragedy

Here is a synopsis of the developments in the Noble murder:

David M. Noble, real estate operator, was shot dead Friday night in the house at No. 34 Central street, Somerville.

Dr. Raymond D. Thiery, his brother-in-law, was found in the cellar bleeding from superficial knife wounds. He said a burglar had killed Noble and attacked him.

Monday the Boston American found a witness who remembered that Noble told of being threatened by Dr. Thiery.

Monday night, following the discovery of an Austrian rifle with which the police allege Noble was slain, Thiery was arrested.

The police theory is that Thiery's motive was his dread that Noble would make a new will and he would lose trusteeship of the Noble property. He feared Noble would marry again.

Thiery is under guard at Massachusetts General Hospital.

SPEEDY TRIAL FOR DR. THIERY ASSURED

The case of Dr. Raymond Donald Thiery of Somerville, charged with first degree murder for the alleged slaying of his brother-in-law, David M. Noble, will be presented to Middlesex Grand Jury at the September sitting.

Assistant District Attorney Warren L. Bishop said today that District Attorney Arthur K. Reading would lose no time prosecuting the case. In the event of an indictment the accused will be tried in October.

It was rumored in medical circles today that when Dr. Thiery was operated on for rupture on Sunday and no such ailment found, the surgeons did detect traces of veronol in Thiery's stomach.

This was construed as a possible suicide attempt on the part of the young interne, but no official confirmation could be made at Massachusetts General Hospital or elsewhere.

POLICE THEORY

Coincident with the hospital rumor of possible traces of veronol was another that medical disclosures might give a new and complicated angle to the motive for the crime.

However the State and Somerville officers are known to be still centering on the theory that fear that Noble would remarry and transfer his insurance benefits to his bride, and disagreements over the policies, led to the killing.

State Detectives John Stokes and Joseph Ferrari and Lieutenants Dinsmery and Kenedy of the Somerville police, continued today to perfect the government's case along this line.

They interviewed Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hurshi of No. 77 Avon street, Somerville, with whom Noble and his late wife chummed.

Noble took his lunch and dinner at the Hursh home every day following the death of his wife in April, and did little more than sleep at the Thiery home around the corner on Central street, while his four-year-old daughter Eunice was away.

CHECK UP DETAILS

The officers held a prolonged conference with Mr. and Mrs. Hursh. They checked up every detail that tended in any way to build up the prosecution's theory of Dr. Thiery's motive for the alleged cold-blooded shooting of Noble.

Mr. and Mrs. Hursh supplied the authorities with much information bearing on Noble's talks and plans about his insurance policies, and the amending of his will after his wife's death, making his daughter, Eunice, sole beneficiary under the insurance policies and naming Dr. Thiery as trustee of the estate until the child becams of age.

They also supplied first-hand evidence refuting reports that Noble was paying court to any woman or intended marriage.

GUARD THIERY TO PREVENT SUICIDE

Stokes of the State police, accompanied by a stenographer, went to his bedside about 10 o'clock. They would not discuss the purpose of the unscheduled inquiry.

FINGER PRINTS RECORDED.

Some time today the authorities will decide whether they will exhume the body of Mrs. Noble, who was Miss Louise Thiery. She died in April. Lobar pneumonia was certified as the cause of death.

Finger prints taken from silverware found piled up in the Thiery home at No. 34 Central street, Somerville, where Noble was killed, are being recorded.

It is the police allegation that the silverware was heaped up to bear out the claim that a burglar killed Noble.

Assistant District Attorney Bishop of Middlesex County today went into conference with Dr. George Burgess Magrath over the medical features of the case and to decide the question of exhuming the body of Mrs. Noble.

Mrs. Noble, who died last April, was the sister of Dr. Thiery. For several weeks preceding her death her brother attended her. During the last few days she was alive another physician was called in.

While the cause of Mrs. Noble's death on the death certificate was given as lobar pneumonia, yet the authorities believe that the exhuming of the body may reveal some facts which will be closely related to the murder of the dead woman's husband by her brother.

"I shall not decide definitely whether to order Mrs. Noble's body exhumed until after I discuss certain medical features of the case with Dr. George Burgess Magrath," the assistant district attorney stated. "I already have a quite lengthy report from Dr. Magrath, but there are a few more points to clear up and I expect to confer with Dr. Magrath today."

Mr. Bishop said that these points concerned the possibility that Mrs. Noble was murdered; that an accessory was involved in the murder of her husband four months later; that Dr. Thiery was a drug addict, and that death might claim Dr. Thiery before he can be arraigned in court for his alleged crime.

"The possibility that Dr. Thiery may have been under the influence of a habit-forming drug is being given careful consideration," continued Mr. Bishop. "I expect Dr. Magrath to go into this phase of the case very carefully, and until I have his formal report before me, I do not care to reveal what evidence we have regarding this point.

OPERATION NOT NEEDED.

"When the police were summoned to the Thiery home about fifteen minutes after the murder was committed, they found silverware piled on a table in the dining room of the home. This was placed there, the authorities say, to give the impression that a burglar was at work in the house and was interrupted by Noble's entrance.

Finger-prints have been found on this silverware, and it is not believed the finger-prints are those of Dr. Thiery.

At the time Noble was murdered, the only other person in the house beside Dr. Thiery, who is accused of the murder, was the physician's father, who according to his own story was asleep on the second floor of the home at the time. The elder Thiery heard the shot, then called for help and found his son-in-law dead and his son suffering from superficial knife wounds, after which he telephoned the police.

When police first arrested Dr. Thiery on the murder charge it was believed that it was an open and shut case—that only the doctor was involved and that a motive for the crime could easily be established.

The deeper the official probe into the crime, however, the more evidence is adduced that there was more back of the slaying than appears on the surface. When the police finally uncovered evidence which led to the belief that the slain man's wife might not have died of lobar pneumonia, the authorities, headed by Assistant District Attorney Warren L. Bishop, revised their first estimates of the case and set off on an entirely new tack.

Police Seek Man Who Put Silver on Thiery Table

Who placed the silverware on the dining room table at the Thiery home just before or just after David M. Noble was shot to death at No. 34 Central street, Somerville, last Friday night?

That is what the Somerville and State police officers would like to know.

RESERVE MARKS MEETING OF THIERYS

Self-repression marked the first meeting of Dr. Raymond D. Thiery and his father in his room at Massachusetts General Hospital.

The elder Thiery carefully concealed all trace of emotion and was aggressively cheerful.

The younger man, who is accused of the murder of Daniel M. Noble, his brother-in-law, was reserved.

"Dr. Thiery, your father has come to see you," the nurse announced, and the accused physician's face brightened for a moment.

When they met they clasped hands for a minute, neither speaking.

Then the doctor asked for his mother, and was told she was near collapse as a result of the ordeal to which she has been subjected.

The father said he was about to attend the funeral of Noble. Dr. Thiery closed his eyes for a moment.

When it was time for the elder man to go, the physician asked him to stay a little longer. But the elder Thiery had other things to do, and departed after a matter-of-fact good-by.

VET'S ROMANCE BLIGHTED; TRIES TO KILL SELF

Unconscious Man Picked Up on Rhode Island Road to Recover

"I am in love but I cannot marry her. Good-bye forever. Tell the folks."

This story of a blighted romance was the only thing found on the person of Thomas Tobin, a World War veteran, picked up unconscious along the road near Lakewood, R. I., after he had apparently taken iodine.

Tobin, whose home is believed to be in Dorchester, was found along the road by the driver of a United Electric Railways Company bus. The man was taken to the office of Dr. Ralph H. Lockwood, where, after some difficulty consciousness was restored.

Coming from the coma, the veteran became hysterical. He attacked the doctor so savagely it was necessary for the physician to choke him and bind him to a table.

Later the patient was taken to a Providence, R. I., hospital where he will recover.

SCORES DEALER WHO REFUSED TO SELL ICE

West End Man Escapes One Charge; Fined $40 on Two Complaints

"Next time you come into this court for violation of the health department laws, or for refusing to sell ice to anybody, you will be punished by this court to the fullest extent," Judge David A. Lourie told Vernon Frances Di Givanni of No. 15 Billerica street, West End, today in court on complaint of Dr. Patrick H. Mulkeeney.

Mrs. Anna L. Minsky testified that during last week's hot spell Di Givanni refused to deliver ice at her home because she had done business with another dealer.

Dr. Mulkeeney declared that Di Givanni was guilty of not registering with the Board of Health and had refused to paint his wagon as ordered.

On the latter counts Di Givanni was fined a total of forty dollars. He was given time in which to pay.

"A hitch in the law," said Judge Lourie, prevented the man from being guilty of refusing to sell ice. Mrs. Minsky, it appeared, wanted the ice, but had not procured for the point where she actually offered money for it.

Patrolman Condoy and Mrs. Josephine Pergamini, No. 45 Ida street, testified against Di Givanni.

Grand-Daughter of Henry Cabot Lodge, Hostess at Party on His Nahant Estate

By BETTY ALDEN

VERILY is Mrs. William Gordon Means a "live wire".

Today the mistress of "The Alhambra" Frederic Crowning is playing hostess at the party being given in the name of her grandfather, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, at his Nahant estate for the Essex county division of the Massachusetts Republican club.

Furthermore Mrs. Means is the leading spirit for the Old-Fashioned Garden Party which is to be staged a week from Saturday—the 23rd—on the estate of William Amory Gardner, uncle of the former Consuelo Gardner Mitel.

The Gardner place adjoins "The Alhambra" overlooking Minot Beach. With its charmingly rustic gardens, it seems just the place for a garden party.

The affair is to benefit the Children's Hospital—pet particular philanthropy of not a few members of the fashionable world. Those in charge are concocting all manner of novel diversionsments.

In the Pharmacy Building room there will be a sale of dainty trifles in charge of the Misses Emily and Jean Sears. The Misses Jane and Eleanor Noble are looking after the ice cream. Miss Polly de Peyster and Mrs. Charles Noble Hetty Beal is taking over the delicatessen sale.

AS for the program itself, that will begin promptly at 4 o'clock, with the sunken garden on the estate providing a splendid amphitheatre.

There will be a series of tableaux, in which the little tots of the Shore colonies will portray famous masterpieces. Among others there will be little Olivia Ames, daughter of Mrs. "Ollie" Ames, Jr., who will interpret "The Age of Innocence," four-year-old Nancy Blumer, daughter of the Tom Blumers, will be "Miss Simplicity," and Marjorie Motley will portray "The Child With an Apple."

OTHER features have been planned to take place between these living pictures. A group of future debutantes including Agnes Boardman, Anne Ayer, Anna Dennett, Eloise Lawrence and Jane Noble are to do an dance, the Russell Burrage girls, Katherine and Alice, will sing "Long, Long Ago." Mrs. Means' young folk, William and Anna Minot will render a duet, "I Will Give You the Keys to Heaven." Our old friends, four little girls of the "Petit" Sortwells—Anna, Elise, Frances and Cynthia—are to sing "The Daisy."

These are only a few of the hits planned for a week from next Saturday's party, which promises to attract a very large throng. Just a few of the sponsors include Lady Isabella Howard, Mrs. Arthur Little, Mrs. Richard D. Sears, Mrs. John S. Curtis, Mrs. George S. Mandell, Mrs. Francis M. Whitehouse and Mrs. Philip Dexter.

A NORTH SHORE event nearer at hand is the keenly anticipated horse show set for next Saturday at "Green Meadows," the George Burroughs place at Hamilton.

Cups are offered in each of the five classes and the show is open to professionals. A large number of entries have already been received.

The horse-loving clans of Ayer, Mandell, Rice and Appleton will make their customary good showing without doubt. An equine event along the Shore without representation from these well-known stables would hardly be an event at all.

The affair is to benefit Welcome House in Boston, and of the notable committee arranging it are, Mrs. Burroughs, Mrs. Charles F. Ayer, Mrs. Frederick J. Alley, Mrs. John S. Parker, Mrs. Francis P. Sears and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr.

NORTH SHORE HUNTSWOMAN

A keen follower of the hounds is Mrs. George Burroughs of "Green Meadows" Hamilton, where the horse show will held on Saturday to benefit Welcome House.

U. S. REFUSES TO SIGN NEW RADIO PACT

Mexico Convention Said Not to Adequately Protect Private Concerns

Washington, Aug. 13.—The United States has refused to adhere to the convention signed by most of the Central and South American States at the Inter-American Electrical Communications Conference at Mexico City.

The convention, however, does not become effective until July 1, 1926, and the State Department, in announcing the decision of the American delegation against signing the pact, expressed hope that, in the meantime, a world conference may be held to establish regulations governing radio communication in the light of developments made since the London agreement was reached in 1912.

A number of objections to the Mexico City Convention, which was negotiated last month under a resolution of the Fifth Pan-American Conference, are held by the American government. It was drafted, says the department, "to apply to government-owned systems of communications and did not adequately safeguard the legitimate interests of private concerns engaged in the operation of communication facilities."

'TRUDY' EDERLE ENTERS AMERICAN CARNIVAL

WORLD'S BEST SWIMMER
Miss Ederle will be seen Saturday in the national half-mile event in the Charles River Basin.

WORLD'S FINEST SWIMMER IN CARNIVAL

Here's the big news, swimmers.

The Boston American has made a ten-strike for next Saturday afternoon's big water carnival in Charles River Basin. It has arranged with Miss Gertrude Ederle of New York, the most marvelous girl swimmer in the world, to come to Boston and swim in the feature event—the national half-mile. She returned from Europe a few days ago, after setting up a new record for the 150 metres swim in the Olympic tryouts.

She will come here Saturday afternoon to defend her title as champion of the United States.

Miss Ederle won the half-mile championship last August in Indianapolis at the carnival conducted by the Chamber of Commerce of that city. Her time was 13 minutes 19 seconds, an American record.

Although but seventeen years of age, Miss Ederle is considered a marvel in the water. She holds five national titles, ten world's records and nine indoor world's records.

On next Saturday afternoon Miss Ederle will try to break her American record for the half-mile.

That next Saturday afternoon's meet under the auspices of the Boston American will be spectacular is assured. Miss Ederle will not be permitted to tag. She will have plenty of competition, as Miss Ethel McGary of New York, who pushed her hard for second place in the half-mile at Indianapolis last year, has also entered next Saturday's race.

In addition, Miss Olive Holland of Wollaston and Miss Delna Carlstrom of Worcester, winners of the American's feature races during the past five years, are among the entrants in the half-mile.

The girl who wins the national half-mile event Saturday will be permitted to defend the title next season with all expenses of self and chaperon paid to whatever city the event is awarded to.

Miss Ederle is the daughter of a successful New York butcher, who operates one of the most widely known pork products stores on the West Side of the metropolis. Gertrude is a husky, wholesome, fun-loving girl, with muscles of steel and a real interest in life.

American Manufacturer Is to Present Him With Five-Tube Neutrodyne

The Prince of Wales is going to arm to make up for certain alleged deficiencies as a horseman by becoming an expert radio fan.

American advertising ingenuity is going to take care of this, for when Britain's future monarch steps on to Berengaria, August 23, for his trip to America, W. Roy McKenzie, president of the Stromberg Carlson Telephone Company, will present him with a fully set.

It's to be a five-tube neutrodyne, mounted in a console of Adam brown mahogany, with all metal parts inside and out plated with gold, on a gold plate is to be the inscription, "Presented to H. R. H. Prince of Wales by W. Roy McKenzie, on behalf of the radio fans of America."

The Prince will have an opportunity to try the set out on his way across, so that by the time he is over here he will be able to talk fluently the current American blaze of bicycles, ohms and milliberies.

ADVANTAGES IN POOR SELECTIVITY

DX fans who require the entire evening to call the roll of the nation's broadcasting stations will be serious of C. R. Edwards of Kingston, R. I., who has discovered a method of bringing the three stations at once. If three stations may be brought in at one time it will be possible to log all the stations in the country in just one-third the time, and as a result long DX fans will get their much needed rest. In a telegram of WGY Mr. Edwards reported a radio hash of the following ingredients: "Three acts of Pinafore" from WGY, a KDKA concert from East Pittsburgh and a prize fight from WBZ, Springfield, were all received by me on a crystal tuned right simultaneously."

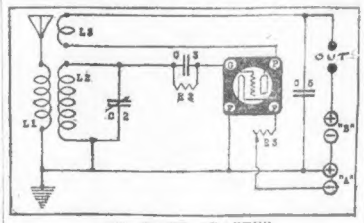
STATION WLAG IN MINNEAPOLIS CLOSES

Station WLAG, in Minneapolis, has closed down due to financial difficulties. It was established in December, 1922, and was one of the western stations that was picked up frequently in New England. It was known as Twin Cities Radio Central, and used "The Call of the North" as a slogan. Efforts to have some syndicate to take over the station and operate it by popular subscription have failed.

Right Answer to Puzzle No. 7

This was a combined wavemeter and wavetrap. Used to measure wavelengths and to cut out interfering stations.

TAKES ANY SET DOWN TO THE SHORT WAVES



LOW WAVE ADAPTER

Simply by coupling the adapter shown above to your present set you can tune down to the low-wave stations which penetrate much better, particularly in Summer, than the regular waves. The adapter works on the principle of a super-heterodyne, raising the wavelength of the received signal from around 100 meters to within the range of the ordinary broadcast receiver.

SHORT WAVE SET FROM ANY RECEIVER

One or 2-Tube Adapter Converts Your Present Set to 100 Meters

The Boston American short wave receiver has proved such a success that we now present a short wave adapter which, when coupled with any ordinary broadcast receiver, makes possible the reception of the low waves with practically no further change.

The adapter, which may be either a one-tube or two-tube affair, works on the heterodyne principle, or, in simpler language, converts the high frequencies of the very short waves to the lower frequencies of the regular broadcast band.

The one-tube adapter is shown today. L1, L2 and L3 are wound in flat order on tube 2¼ inches in diameter and three inches long. L1 has six turns; L2, 25 turns, and L3, 20 turns. In winding, L1 and L3 may be considered as a single coil with a tap at the sixth turn.

SPACE TURNS.

No. 20 or 22 wire may be used, and for the utmost efficiency it is well to use either enamelled or single covered wire and to space the turns lightly.

Condenser C2 is of .00025 mfd. capacity (use a low-loss one). C3 is mica .0001. C5 is from .0001 to .00025+ mfd. R2 is about two megohm. Any tube may be used.

In connecting to your present receiver, the output terminals are connected to the primary of the receiver. If the primary does not have a condenser and is not connected to the secondary, no special precaution is necessary.

If there is a condenser between ground and antenna, it will be necessary to short circuit the condenser.

BREAK CONNECTION.

If there is a direct connection between the primary and secondary in the receiver, this connection must be broken, or a separate B battery used for the adapter. Otherwise the B battery will be shorted.

An excellent way to overcome these difficulties is to connect a coil like the primary in the output terminals of the adapter, and to bring this coil in inductive coupling with the secondary in the receiver.

To tune the complete outfit to a low wave, simply set the dials of your regular receiver accurately for some definite station, and then adjust C2 until a low wave station is heard. No reports should come in on each of two adjustments of the condenser C2.

Tomorrow we will describe a two-tube adapter which will give greater range and volume that the one-tube described today.

Here's a Tip From Germany for Set Builders

One of the most ingenious pieces of radio apparatus exhibited at a recent German radio show is receiving set so constructed that the amplifier forms the base of radio cabinet. This base is detachable, and by removing it the main portion of the cabinet from its base the audio frequency amplifier is automatically separated without disturbing the connections of the set itself.

Contacts between the amplifier and the receiver are maintained by means of prongs that fit into sleeves. The set carries the prongs and the panel, while the amplifier carries the prongs. When the set is placed upon the amplifier the effect is as though the set were being placed upon a decorative stand.

However, just as soon as one instrument is placed upon another contact is established and the amplifier is brought into the circuit.

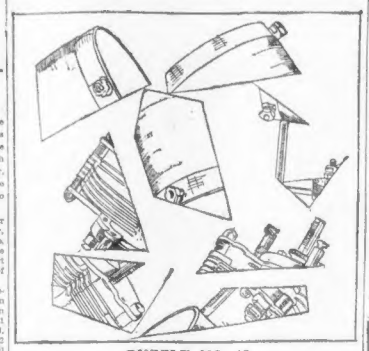
That Brunette Bathing Beauty Was In, and---



PUZZLE NO. 13

You remember the one in the scarlet one-piece-or-less suit at Revere that little Northumberland got all broken up over, and we invited her in to help get him together again.

Well, she came.

And so did—ve, you guessed it—so did our frau.

The sketch above is a good idea of what we think of Northumberland for getting us into all this trouble.

But as long as you keep away from bathing beauties, you don't need to worry about Puzzle No. 13 even though it comes on the thirteenth of the month.

And don't make the work too hard. The puzzles are designed for anybody who knows the difference between a radio and a peanut-butter cough-drop, so don't try to answer 'em as if you were Marconi or Armstrong, and bye-and-bye you'll maybe take home one of these prizes:

First, four-tube Coto-Coil set; second, Acmeflex Kitset; third, choice of pair of Como push-pull transformers or Trinity loud speaker; fourth, Peerless Twin-Aud; fifth, Se-Ar-De audio transformer; sixth, General Radio .0005 mfd. variable condenser with vernier gear; seventh, Peerless Kondenser Kit; eighth, pair of Towers' earphones, and ninth, National four-inch Velvet Vernier dial.

ON THE AIR LAST NIGHT

BY THE LISTENER

The Boston American Orchestra came through with its usual clarity from WNAC. I enjoyed particularly the excerpts from "Rigoletto." It isn't often you hear snatches of your favorite gems played outside the Opera House in such excellent fashion. I also happened to get in on the listening talk given by the Rev. A. E. George regarding the work of the American's "Helping Hand." After hearing Dr. George's sincere remarks about this department, it is likely that many of the radio audience will find some way in which to help the good work along.

The static last night was somewhat bothersome. Semi-distant stations could be pulled in without difficulty, although when put on the loud speaker, they did not sound as good as they might. I enjoyed hearing WJZ broadcast the Philharmonic Orchestra from the Lewiston Stadium in New York. It was interfered with more or less by code coming from the Charlestown Navy Yard, on a harmonic right near WJZ's wave. Since the "round-the-world" fliers have been getting ready for the last oceanic leg of their trip, NAD has been rather busy. Unless the harmonics in the wave of the Navy Yard station, and WBZ, the United States Fruit station are cleared up by next Winter, local fans will find plenty to cuss over when they go after long distance reception.

One of the clearest piano recitals I ever heard over the radio came from WRC. It was given by Miss Helen Williams, and the tone was practically perfect. Her playing of "Chopin Engarged," by Moscowski, struck me as the high light of the program. The Washington stations are beginning to come through with their old "pep" of last Winter. There was also some fine piano music from WGY earlier in the evening.

Another example of the horrid "hash" to be found around the 360 metre wave was apparent last night. WGI was broadcasting phonograph records and was being heterodyned by some other station whose wave was unintelligible. This condition certainly is not good testimony to the progress of broadcasting.

The G. A. R. broadcast by WBZ from Mechanics Building was impressive as well as educational. It was a wonderful achievement for WBZ. When one considers that many of the Civil War veterans are now confined to their beds or homes, unable to enjoy this big encampment in Boston, it is wonderful to think that some of the meetings are being put within their reach by means of the radio. The address by Mayor James M. Curley was one of the best ever.

Now that the cool evenings are beginning to show themselves, more people will stay indoors and use their sets. You can already tell that this is the case by observing the increase in the number of "squealing" regenerative sets which, until lately, haven't been so terribly bad.

SEQUEL OF CHICKIE

By Elenore Meherin

Boston Girl's Impassioned Love Story and Her Struggle to Live It Down and Come Back

CHICKIE said: "Come on—Why don't you come, Mary." Chickie pretended to fix her collar. She was so hot she could scarcely breathe. But she paused at the windows.

She pointed out a new fall coat and stood there talking vivaciously—laughing. Mary said in a troubled whisper: "What's the matter—your eyes are blazing——"

"Nothing—we may as well look at everything. We may meet Janina. I tried to get her on the phone. Every one is out of town. Mary—look—is that Rosa Abbott——"

"How should I know—"

Mary became alarmed. Chickie's lips were white, but her cheeks struck with crimson. She said: "Overdo things! That's you, Chickie! You don't have to smash the whole world in for a love affair the first day."

But Chickie didn't stop. They were just behind the tall, slender girl in the smart, black dress. Chickie touched her arm with a breathless: "Rosa—how are you?"

Chickie Was Shaking

It was not Rosa Abbott, but a girl who smiled readily when Chickie said: "Oh, I beg your pardon. I've followed you a block, thinking you were a friend of mine——"

Mary said sharply with a trace of alarm in her tone: "We came down to buy a rug."

Chickie blushed. She was shaking from head to foot.

They bought the rug—afterwards they went to lunch. Mary said bitingly: "Let's go down to Mitchell and ask for your job back?"

Chickie kept her eyes on her plate. At last she said: "Are you angry, Mary? Why?"

"Well—why do you need to show people defiance? That's what you're doing now——"

"Oh, Lord—Mary! What in the world should I do?"

"Act as if no one existed but you and I and people like us who know. Let everyone else go hang."

Chickie said: "I have no poise left it seems. You know, Mary, I'm the biggest coward on the earth. The thought of going back to an office and walking back and forth is enough to put me in a faint. I can just know the thoughts of men who look at me and remember; and the excitement of girls when they pass me. I can hear the talk of them in dressing rooms afterwards."

Mary was silent. She stirred sugar viciously in her coffee. "Are you going back to an office, Chickie?"

"What else can I do?"

"You wrote so much about that Eva. Mother and I were thinking——"

"You mean that I might go into a hospital?"

"Yes—"

"You know I'd like it. I really would. But Eva says it's the hardest, meanest work in the world, and she wouldn't let any girl she knows go in for it if she could stop them—"

Not Afraid

Mary shrugged. "Lots of people use the same reasoning to show that we have no right to bring children here. It's a rich way to look at things, isn't it?"

Chickie was not afraid of the grind of routine. Eva had said to her once: "Well—of course, a girl has to have references. They investigate in some cases, I know."

Now she told it to Mary.

Mary said: "You can get references. There's mother and I and your friend, Jake Munson. Yes could get by—"

They talked of it—they became feverish. Chickie didn't sleep that night. She got up early and wrote down the addresses of hospitals. At first she thought of asking Mary to go with her—then she decided to go alone.

A pale, youngish woman, with worried blue eyes and nostrils that quivered, received her in the first hospital. She was the superintendent of nurses. In a very impersonal, business way she outlined qualifications.

Highest Character

Only girls of the highest character and loyalty were wanted. They must be girls with a high school education. They required references. She named them all.

Chickie looked over a blank that the woman handed her. It had numerous questions . . . was the applicant married—was she divorced—

Chickie said: "I suppose you investigate the girl's character?"

"Assuredly. We have to be very strict. A nurse's position calls for a woman who can measure up to the highest responsibilities. A hospital must be very strict about this. Remember, we are entrusting lives to a nurse's care."

She looked sharply at Chickie and suddenly asked: "You're inquiring for yourself, are you, Miss Bryce?"

"Yes—"

She nodded, and said with an air of dismissal: "Well, I gave you all that is required."

Chickie got up, her limbs trembling. She felt as though she had plunged in cold water.

Would anyone say she was a girl of the highest character? And if, by chance, she gained admittance to one of these hospitals then some one found out about her, would she be expelled?

Chickie thought of this and went with shivering, reluctant steps down the block. She better give up this idea, perhaps. Better go back to her own line.

If she were competent, business men wouldn't inquire about her life outside the office. What did Mitchell care that Janina boasted of her freedom?

Mitchell had a branch office in Brockton. He knew her ability. He might give her a place there. There would be no concealment; no future to fear—

It occurred to her with a sinking at the heart that she might as well call him up—ask him for a chance. She went into a drug store and though she remembered the phone perfectly she looked carefully down through the Ms. The number might be changed—a good deal more than a year since she had left him.

She dropped a nickel but when the operator called for her number she said the receiver noiselessly back on the hook. She walked out of the store with the hysterical sense of having escaped.

And she kept walking and walking to the next hospital on her list. Eva said big hospitals gave better training and a wider experience.

She walked very slowly through the iron gate. She admired the wide lawn—not as bad after all.

Kindly Nurse

A big boned, kindly nurse with a crisp manner received her. She asked Chickie questions, studying her frankly as she did so. Why was Chickie giving up business? Was she prepared for a life of arduous but stirring responsibility?

And in a brief, glowing way she began to sketch the duties and compensations of the young nurse's life—made it seem a thrilling, heroic calling. Chickie's imagination took fire as it had when Eva talked.

Miss Simonds said, "Well—with your business training, Miss Bryce, and your attitude, you should make a success. I think we'll be glad to have you. You'll find it pleasant here. Don't let any one discourage you. You should enter with the Fall class. The need for girls of high caliber is always urgent."

Chickie said with an air of lightness, "I'm not sure that I'm quite equal to all your requirements—

"You'll soon gain confidence." Then she told Chickie to file her application with the State Board of Nurses for it must pass upon her references and qualifications. She said she would be delighted to enroll her.

Chickie was foolish in her thanks. So lovely in Miss Simonds to speak like that! A girl passed in white cap and uniform. She had visions of herself walking through the corridor so.

Now life—new opportunities—glorious work. Now someone needed yards and yards of skin—who would volunteer? Chickie saw herself nobly offering all the cuticle on her body. Now there was a fire in the children's ward—Chickie was the one to rush in and carry out little ones half buried in smoke. Her mind flashed with these brilliant images of Chickie—heroine nurse.

But she didn't tell Jonathan or Jennie what she had done. The sneaking fear that she might be rejected was with her night and day.

CANDY MAKING.

LAST Monday I promised you I would include two marshmallow candy recipes in today's talk on Candy Making. Here they are:

Walnut Fudge.

1 tbsp. butter, 3 cups sugar, 3 oz. marshmallow whip, 1 tsp. vanilla, pinch of salt, 1 cup rich milk, or part cream, ½ cup chopped walnuts.

Shave the chocolate and add all of the other ingredients except the marshmallow whip, vanilla and nut meats. Stir up and mix well before cooking. Put on fire and do not stir again until it boils, and then only enough to keep from burning. Boil very slowly until the mixture thickens and will form a ball when dropped in cold water. Set pan in cold water for six or seven minutes without stirring.

Then beat, add marshmallow whip flavoring, and the nut meats, and continue beating until thick and ready to pour. This takes more beating than ordinary fudge, but it will thicken and is much more creamy and delicious than any other fudge.

Marshmallow Layer Fudge.

Use same ingredients as in above recipe and cook in exactly the same way with the exception of the walnut meats which may be omitted. When done, divide into two parts, leaving one pan near the fire and cooking and beating the other as described above. When done, pour into a buttered tin and spread a layer of marshmallow whip. Cool and beat second pan and pour on top.

Gelatine can be used in an almost endless variety of ways in candy making, for instance, the marshmallows we are all so fond of.

Marshmallows.

One envelope gelatine, 1 1-4 cups water, 2 cups granulated sugar, few grains salt, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Soak gelatine in ½ the water five minutes. Put remaining water and sugar in saucepan, bring to the boiling point and let boil until syrup will spin a thread when dropped from tip of spoon. Add soaked gelatine and let stand until partially cooled then add salt and flavoring. Beat until mixture becomes white and thick. Pour into granite pans, thickly dusted with powdered sugar, having mixture one inch in depth. Let stand in a cool place until thoroughly chilled. Turn on a board, cut in cubes and roll in powdered sugar. This recipe makes about 100 marshmallows. Nuts, chocolate, fruit juices in place of part of the water, or candied fruits chopped may be added—or the plain ones rolled in grated cocoanut before being sugared. Dates stuffed with this confection is delicious.

Peanut Dainties.

One envelope gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 2 cups light brown sugar, ¾ cup boiling water, 2 cups chopped roasted peanuts, 1 tbsp. lemon juice.

Soak gelatine in cold water ten minutes. Put sugar and boiling water in saucepan, and when sugar is dissolved add gelatine, bring to the boiling point and let boil 15 minutes. Remove from range and add 1 cup peanuts and one tbsp. lemon juice, or ½ tsp. of the lemon flavoring found in the box of gelatine soaked in 1 tbsp. cold water. Turn into a pan first dipped in cold water having mixture three-fourths of an inch in depth. Let stand over night, cut in squares and roll in ground peanuts.

Chocolate Caramels.

One envelope gelatine, 2 cups brown sugar, pinch of salt, ¾ cup hot water, 1 square chocolate, 1 tbsp. butter, 1 tbsp. vinegar, ½ tsp. vanilla.

Stir together the gelatine, sugar and salt, and dissolve in the hot water. Boil until a soft ball will form when dropped into cold water. Add chocolate (melted over boiling water), butter and vinegar. Do not stir, but shake to keep from sticking. Boil until brittle when dropped into cold water. Remove from fire, flavor with vanilla, and pour into a well-buttered shallow pan. When cool cut in squares.

Another general favorite is

which can be made with variations Melt 1-4 cup butter in a saucepan and add 1 lb. confectioners' sugar and 2-3 cup of milk. Bring to the boiling point and let boil until mixture will form a ball when tried in cold water. Remove from range and add 1 tsp. vanilla. Beat until creamy and turn into a buttered pan. Let cool slightly and then cut in squares.

To make Chocolate Opera Caramels add 2 squares unsweetened chocolate after the boiling point is reached.

To make Nut Opera Caramels add 1 cup chopped English walnut meats as soon as the vanilla caramels are removed from the range.

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

Ann Lisle

"TUNE today is resting sweetly. So you want to throw on the old work at your blue heart for will you be a

"But you're well and in comfort, to come with this?" Virginia interrupted musingly. "I can't be expected to endure such a horrible existence. You must [illegible] me to be sane about this. Neil is dead. You and I may [illegible] since the being a sensation devoutly to be wished, but surely you must see that [illegible] his murderers, even if you knows who they are, couldn't bring him back—cannot do any thing but work terrible harm to the living."

"I'm going to Aunt Mary's," I [illegible] my self, unable to say more in my bewilderment and pain.

"Oh—so you won't help me? Is that your last word? Will nothing induce you to remain with me? Not even Virginia? You will leave Neil's murderer free to [illegible]?"

"I'm going to Aunt Mary's," I repeated.

"Aren't you being a little too absurd?" asked Virginia, pityingly. "How are you going to get over to the Hoadley place at this time of the night?"

I wanted to cry out that I'd go now if I had to walk. But instead I managed with more poise and dignity than I'd have expected of myself in such trying circumstances.

"We needn't stand here discussing ways and means any longer, Virginia. All along I've met me with your lack of faith in Neil.

CAUTION VETS TO BE PROMPT ON BONUS

Dependents May Suffer for Delay, Hearst Bureau Experts Declare

Veterans are again cautioned to promptly file their claims for bonus. Delay will prove costly to the dependants. It has been estimated that about 25,000 veterans of the World War will die in January, 1925. This means that their dependents will be entitled to a substantial amount of money.

No one here is eligible to receive the bonus who will be deprived of any rights by filing an application at once, in the event that the bonus law is later changed in any respect for the benefit of the veterans and their dependents.

Some veterans' questions answered by the American's Bonus Bureau follow:

T. N. N. Roxbury.

Q.—I served three months in the Georgia from April 6, 1917, to August 6, 1919. Am I entitled to the bonus for three months. We were in the navy service, but were not drafted. How do I go about it?

A.—You will receive a bonus certificate up. Insurance policy with the government face value of $1000 and the maximum service credit of $625 should make the bonus $1625.

W. C. M. WORCESTER

Q.—I served ninety days in the U. S. Army, 1909. At times I was home on furlough. How can I get a bonus for this time, and what do I have to do?

A.—You will receive a bonus certificate up. Insurance policy with the government face value of $1000. Application blanks may be obtained from any post office or American Legion Post in Massachusetts.

J. J. M. DORCHESTER

Q.—I served almost ninety months in the U. S. Navy from December 22, 1909, to September 22, 1919. What will the amount of our bonus come to and to whom is it payable overseas?

A.—Service afloat, but not on a transport, ship is counted as overseas service. You will receive a bonus certificate for $625, with interest at 4 per cent, making about $1,000 in all.

MRS. S. F. R. ROXBURY

Q.—My husband enlisted in June, 1917, and died October 10, 1917, or July 19, 1918. He died before a 1920 bonus was paid. Am I a widow? Do I get the bonus? Do I have to do anything more?

A.—A sister or a husband of a deceased veteran is not entitled to the benefits of the bonus act, with the exception of a widow.

MRS. I. L., QUINCY

Q.—I am the mother of a ward who was in the Navy only one month, was discharged and died. Am I entitled to the bonus in Washington by me?

A.—If you have no husband and your husband's death was not caused by disease contracted in the service you are entitled to apply for the bonus. You will be required to furnish the necessary forms to prove an affidavit blank, an affidavit of your husband's disease, Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C. Application for bonus dependents must accompany these forms. The bonus may be obtained from the post office or American Legion Post in your city.

I DRIVE A ..... CAR

1924 DRIVERS CLUB — I PLAY SAFE — BOSTON AMERICAN

Crowley

Superintendent Crowley's combination breathes personal interest in the Boston Motor Car Owners' campaign to reduce automobile casualties. Secretary Lisk Seaman of the police bureau of safety is a constant participant in the campaign and is back of the movement.

The resolution by every operator of a motor vehicle that he or she will drive throughout the day to injure in a manner not to cause mishaps or injury to themselves or others is urged by Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley in his official approval of the I PLAY SAFE CLUB.

Superintendent Crowley's combination breathes personal interest in the Boston Motor Car Owners' campaign to reduce automobile casualties. Secretary Lisk Seaman of the police bureau of safety is a constant participant in the campaign and is back of the movement.

"The resolution by every operator of a motor vehicle that he or she will drive throughout the day to injure in a manner not to cause mishaps or injury to themselves or others is urged by Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley in his official approval of the I PLAY SAFE CLUB.

"Almost every day in the year I am obliged officially to read police reports from division commanders in reference to fatal and serious accidents to men, women and children, caused by drivers of trucks and automobiles.

"When such a report refers to an aged man or woman, or to a small child, it makes my heart ache, that the aged and the young are not given any consideration by a large number of drivers of motor vehicles who feel, when they are driving in the public streets, that no person, whether they be old or young, has a right to cross in front of their automobiles, or in fact, to come to their opinion, have no right whatsoever to use the public streets, and that automobiles always have the right of way.

"Too much publicity cannot be given to the Safety First proposition, and if every driver of a truck or automobile, in addition to his pledge 'I PLAY SAFE,' should say to himself or herself every morning before starting his or her car, 'I promise to drive carefully today and not hurt myself or others,' it would have a tendency, if promises were sincere, to lessen the appalling number of accidents recorded every day.

"Then again if automobilists would take the trouble to look up the 'Speed Law,' they will find that while there is a maximum and a minimum rate of speed allowed, that the most important thing for all operators to remember is that part of the speed law which reads:

HOPES ALL WILL JOIN.

"Sec. 17, Chap. 90.—No persons operating a motor vehicle on any way shall run it at a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to traffic and the use of the way, and the safety of the public.'

"According to this part of the speed law, operators must know if they use their brains, that one mile an hour under certain traffic conditions, especially when the way is crowded with pedestrian traffic, is not only a violation of the speed law, but is also dangerous practice and often the cause of fatal and serious accidents.

"As the initiation fee and dues for membership in the I PLAY SAFE CLUB is practically nothing, let us hope that each driver of a truck or automobile, in Massachusetts at least, will sign the pledge and conscientiously make an agreement with himself to drive carefully on dry days as well as wet days, and thereby do his part in helping to lessen the loss of life and the maiming of men, women and children.

"With all good wishes for a successful campaign, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
MICHAEL H. CROWLEY,
Superintendent of Police."

LOVE REUNITES FRANCINE AND SONG WRITER

Dove of Peace Flies Aboard Liner and Divorce Is Called Off

New York, Aug. 13 (Universal).—The secret marriage of Francine Larrimore, beautiful young comedian of Broadway, to Con Conrad, song writer, is not to end in divorce.

A new romance of the sea has brought the couple happily together again. They arrived here on the Majestic with a reconciliation just fourteen hours old.

Miss Larrimore and Conrad went to Fort Chester, Dec. 5, 1922, and were married. Then they came back to New York. He lived at the Friar's Club, and she remained at her apartment. They denied a marriage had taken place.

Last June the news leaked. Francine was very angry. She caught a boat, the Mauretania. Conrad missed the boat and got the next one. He overhauled her at a Paris hotel. The actress declined to see her husband.

Conrad went out to Lobourget, caught an airship and flew to London. There he learned that Francine was ill and he came flying back to Lobourget. He nursed her, but did not win back her love. She went to the extent of filing suit for divorce in Paris.

The next chapter finds Conrad taking passage from Southampton on the Majestic. Somehow the news of his booking got over to Paris. Francine suddenly decided to catch the same boat when it touched at Cherbourg.

'Thank You' to Judge Costs South Boston Man $50

It cost Frank A. Nevalis just $50 in South Boston Court today for saying "thank you," to Judge Edward L. Logan.

Nevalis, of D street, was sentenced to the House of Correction for two months after he had been found guilty of speeding his auto away after hitting a bicycle on the Strandway, injuring two children.

Nevalis appealed and was held in $200 for Superior Court. As he was sitting down in the prisoner's dock he mumbled something.

"What did you say?" asked Judge Logan.

"I said, thank you," said the defendant.

"Fifty dollars fine for contempt of court," said the judge.

OFFICER FIGHTS MOB TO SAVE PRISONER

Angry Crowd Tries to Get at Man Taken for Robbing a Grand Army Veteran

The story of how a policeman held off a mob attempting to get a prisoner who had robbed a G. A. R. veteran, was told in Municipal Court before Judge Cohen today.

The officer was Patrolman Patrick F. Reagan of the Back Bay station. The prisoner, who was held in $2500 the one week was booked as Dominic Grosso of No. 141 Leverett street, West End. He is said to have a long record.

According to Officer Reagan, he saw Grosso and another man acting suspiciously near Mechanics building, where a number of veterans were getting off cars.

The policeman said he watched and saw the two men pick the pocket of an Illinois veteran. Reagan ran into the crowd and seized both men, but one escaped after tearing away the collar of his coat. The crowd then turned on Grosso and attempted to take the officer's club with which to beat up the prisoner. Unsuccessful in this they attempted to take Grosso away from Reagan, who fought them off for fifteen minutes until help arrived. The officer found $40 in Grosso's pocket.

Reagan asked the court for two week's continuance, that he might learn the identity of the veteran who was robbed, and who was led away by friends.

LEATRICE JOY SEEKS SECOND DIVORCE

LEATRICE JOY

Word was received from Los Angeles today that Leatrice Joy, beautiful motion picture star, has filed another suit for divorce from her husband, John C. Gilbert, playing the lead in Romance Ranch, a picture now being featured in Boston.

The couple have been married three times and divorced once up to date, and a second divorce will be added if Miss Joy is successful in her latest suit. She charges cruelty and excessive use of intoxicants.

Miss Joy has been termed one of the most beautiful women in the movies. Hailing from New Orleans, she entered motion picture work in New York and through her sterling work in "The Ten Commandments," became a star. She recently left work to go into retirement, as a child is expected.

The couple were originally married in Los Angeles, August 26, 1918, after a three day courtship. They separated in less than three months and were divorced on December 22, 1921.

Three months later they had a reconciliation, and eloped to Tia Juana, Mexico. To make sure the tie was binding they later had the ceremony performed a third time.

POSTPONE FLIGHT AGAIN

Ice Conditions Are Found So Alarming That New Base in Greenland Sought

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 13 (A.P.)—After plans had been completed here for the American world fliers to hop off for Greenland tomorrow, weather permitting, a disquieting report today from Naval Flight Commander Bruce G. Leighton, on board the cruiser Raleigh, off the Greenland coast, caused a sudden change in the schedule.

Reports from Angmagssalik, after a reconnoissance from the Raleigh stated that the harbor was too small and too nearly filled with floating ice to make it a suitable or safe landing place for the fliers. It is probable that a new landing place will be picked.

WILL OPEN WAR UPON 'RUM ROW'

Haynes' Trip Here Prepares for Attack by U. S. 'Dry' Armada

Coincidental with the investigation of the coastline in and about Boston harbor by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes, comes the announcement of plans for isolating the rum-running craft now anchored off Boston Light and at other points along the Atlantic coast.

Mr. Haynes today is conducting an investigation of conditions his new dry fleet will have to face in breaking up rum-running between the ships in and about Boston and Rum Row.

Twenty former navy destroyers, 10 former navy mine sweepers and 200 fast power boats constitute the new dry armada and Boston will be one of the bases for these craft.

BIG FLEET COMING.

The fleet will leave Philadelphia soon, the boats rapidly being reconditioned in the navy yard, there. These auxiliary boats will be manned by 2,000 experienced men and officers and the plan of action, as outlined by Mr. Haynes after looking over the local situation, will be to starve out the ships anchored on Rum Row.

The boats will patrol the coast line night and day and make communication between the shore and the boats impossible. From six to eight months time will be required to drive the liquor boats from the coast, according to Major Haynes. The major will continue his tour of inspection throughout New England

DR. FRANK CRANE ON GOD

By DR. FRANK CRANE

GOD is so old. He knows such a tremendous lot by experience.

He has been through so many things that disturb us and found that they do not matter.

Generations of men come and go, like waves beating upon the shore, but God is like the boundless ocean which remains forever the same.

God seems to be a necessity of thought. It is silly for people to speculate or dispute whether or not there is a God. If there is not a God there is something else equivalent, the nature of which we do not know.

But the most remarkable thing about God is not that He is so old but that HE is so eternally young.

Whatever God has He must have life, and there is no other name for life but Eternal Youth.

As one grows older he is amazed every year to see the young grass growing, the flowers preening and the young lambs hopping.

There is something in all this that corresponds to the nature of God.

He must have a sense of humor, consequent upon His spiritual removal from the earth.

He does not have a sense of tragedy for tragedy is simply brief life trying to be eternal or force fluttering against its limitations.

With God there can be no limitations. He does whatsoever He wills.

But the most amazing thing about God is not that He is so great, but that He is so small. He sees beyond the confines of the greatest microscope. He is at home among the electrons and the protons.

To Him all the visible phenomena are but rearrangements of those atoms which we cannot see, atoms which now are Man, now are Beast and now are the rocks that strew the field.

God is not only the most stable thing in His universe, but He is constantly moving.

He is the secret of force. He moves in electricity, in gravitation, in chemical unions, which are names we give to the infinitely small somethings that we do not understand.

It is as easy for Him to juggle the stars, or guide them in their vast courses, as it is to juggle the atoms. One is as mysterious as the other.

The human mind has its limitations. God has no limitations.

God is the name we give to our human faculties when they are projected beyond all human powers.

He is the nature of Things. And he who has found out the nature of Things, and has conformed himself to them, has found God.

22 Suitors In Battle Royal; Widow Is Taken to Jail

New York, Aug. 13.—Mrs. Josephine Arzenski, a buxom Brooklyn widow, intended to be married today, but instead she and her five children were in jail.

At the same time, 22 of her suitors were in bandages and the Arzenski home was a wreck. She invited the eligible 22 into her home to state their qualifications, both personal and financial. Among the swains was Michael Gudski. Deciding he had been slighted, he struck Mrs. Arzenski in one eye.

Several suitors proceeded to bruise him. There were not enough places on Michael for 21 men to punch at one time, so they fell to walloping one another. Windows were broken, furniture splintered and bones ditto. Gudski's skull was broken in two places. Then police arrested the widow.

CHINESE BRIDE SAVED FROM DEPORTATION

In 1917 Yee Gaun Wong, who was born in Wyoming, went out and did two years' fighting for Uncle Sam.

Now Yee Gaun Wong, who conducts a shop at No. 4A Hudson street, is fighting against Uncle Sam in an effort to have his wife admitted to this country.

The wife is being held at the Ellis Island immigration station and the subsequent for which young Yee Gaun Wong offered his life a few years back has directed that his wife be deported to China, under a provision of the immigration act which became effective July 1.

CHILD WITH MOTHER.

The two-year-old son of the couple, born in China, is with his mother at the immigration station, but he may be admitted to the United States any time the father wants to separate the youngster from his mother.

The young merchant of Chinese extraction is a member of the Lynn Post of the American Legion and the legion officials have interested themselves in the case, while Attorneys Declan W. Corcoran and Major Thomas L. Walsh secured a writ of habeas corpus from the United States District Court in time to prevent her being deported. They now seek to have her admitted to the United States.

Lee Gam Wong served overseas with the A. E. F. for two years with the 17th Company, 5th Battalion, 15th Depot Brigade, and with the 204th Infantry.

MARRIED IN CHINA.

After he was discharged from the service he made a visit to China and while there took a bride. Later a son was born and early in the Summer the three set out for Boston.

They arrived after the new immigration act became effective and the government rules the father and son could come into the country but put the bars upon Mrs. Wong.

With the legion back of the effort to have the wife admitted it is likely the matter will be carried to Washington for final disposition unless the woman is let into this country by court order.

HOST TO 2,000 AT HIS INN AT SUDBURY

"Bring your own lunch," was part of the greeting extended today by Henry Ford to the farmers of Middlesex County who held their annual picnic on the grounds of historic Wayside Inn, South Sudbury.

An elaborate program had been prepared by Mr. Ford, who with his wife has been at the Inn since Sunday, preparatory to decorating son's stepping trip with Thomas A. Edison and Harvey Firestone.

The program was headed "To Every Middlesex Village and Farm—Welcome."

"The Wayside Inn gives hearty welcome to Middlesex farmers and their families on their fourth annual picnic under the auspices of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau and Extension Service, a get-together of neighbors and fellow-workers to lay the emphasis on play rather than on work."

The program then listed the events of the day, included being a "picnic lunch" at noon, with the warning, "Do not forget your lunch."

Ford was not in evidence during the early part of the day, but his secretary stated he might "mingle" with the farmers later and discuss agricultural matters.

Firestone arrived yesterday, but Edison, who was expected last night with Elias Ford, failed to appear. It was said he would reach the Inn today. The three cronies will take "jaunts" through New England, it was stated.

It was estimated that 2,000 farmers with their wives and families were on hand, arriving at an early hour in automobiles, among which the Ford product constituted a majority.

Berlenbach Is Going to Show His Punch Here Today

By JACK CONWAY

PAUL BERLENBACH, considered by many ring experts as the greatest puncher developed in the middleweight division since the days of Stanley Ketchel, was hooked to engage in his first Boston appearance at Billy Rolfe's Gym in the South End today. Paul the Parralyzer, who has the amazing record of twenty-five knockouts in a row to his credit, is here for the express purpose of knocking out Hambone Kelly of South Boston in their 10-round bout at Braves Field on Friday night.

Berlenbach is one of the fastest punchers this writer has ever seen in action. We have seen Paul battle in New York where he is the best drawing card with the exception of Dempsey and Firpo. He appeared to advantage against Jack Delaney, the middleweight champion of Canada, and Jack Bernstein, the Paterson, N. J., scrapper, who has the amazing record of twenty-five knockouts in a row to his credit, for the express purpose of knocking out Hambone Kelly of South Boston in their 10-round bout at Braves Field on Friday night.

JOHNNY WILSON, former middleweight champion who recently stopped Jack Malone, will box Jack Delaney, Canadian champion through his stuff. If Berlenbach should stop Hambone, he will be asked to join Rolfe's stable. The latter is willing to meet either Berlenbach or Kelly. He believes he would be able to annex either of these ring luminaries. Rolfe is the most astute of fistic affairs and is anxious to see Berlenbach some more before he inserts him in the ring.

* * *

DAN HICKEY is piloting Berlenbach. The latter is one of the few of local managers' discoveries that has promise has more than any of the modern boxers. Berlenbach's rapid rise and long list of knockouts seem to bear out Hickey's opinion.

HAMBONE was hooked to work out at Kelly & Hussey' Gym today. The South Boston socker appears in the best condition of his career. He has made things mighty interesting for Jack McLellan, Tom Kirby and Chick Canavan, his sparring partners, and is of the opinion he will count with a knock out inside of three rounds.

One thing is sure about the Berlenbach-Hambone frolic. It will never go the limit. With two such thumpers in action, a lad is sure to go crashing over inside the limit.

It is expected that even a larger crowd than the one that saw Wilson and Malone in action will be on hand when Berlenbach and Hambone enter the ring.

MATCHMAKER Goodwin of the Suffolk A. A. has completed the preliminary program. Jim Maloney, "Hambone's" stablemate, will box in the semi-final bout of eight rounds. The young South Boston heavyweight will be opposed by the artful and experienced "Neddo" Flanagan of Malden.

Eddie Devine, South End bantam southpaw, will make a strong bid for national recognition by agreeing to tackle Bobby Dyson, New Bedford veteran, and Sammy Fuller of the North End will start a campaign for matches with Villa or Genaro if he beats Eddie Polo of Waterville, Me.

The show will be opened with a four-round contest between Johnny Vacca of Newton and Young Raucchon of Cambridge.

LEADING STARS OF WORLD AT LONGWOOD

The entry list for the national doubles championship, which begins Monday at Chestnut Hill, took a big jar yesterday when sectional champions were entered from the North western, intermountain and Missouri Valley districts.

In addition, two Australian pairs were entered, bringing the total number of teams to 32. These players still seeking partners are Jean Borotra of France, Frederick Kalins of Australia, and A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield.

The development which left Borotra, Wimbledon singles champion, without a partner was somewhat surprising. The "Bounding Basque" played with Rene LaCoste in the doubles at Wimbledon and at the Olympics. In the British reveal the fearless of the tricolor were united in the first round by Williams and Washburn, but they became semi-finalists at Colombes and carried Frank Hunter and Vinnie Richards five sets before yielding.

A cable from France received yesterday by Secretary Richard Bishop of Longwood, instructed him to enter LaCoste and Jacques Brugnon as the only French team, and requested that a strong partner be found for them. Upon the return today of George W. Wightman, president of the U. S. L. T. A., an effort will be made to secure a capable partner for the French Davis Cup entry.

Pat O'Hara Wood and Gerald Patterson, the Melbourne stars who were runners-up to Tilden and Richards in the 1922 championship at Longwood, are to bid for the title once again this year. Their entries were recorded yesterday, along with those of Norman E. Brookes and Horace E. Schlesinger, another pair of Melbourne residents.

It will be the first Boston appearance of Brookes since he and Pat Spraon won the title in 1919. Schlesinger will be recalled as the "boy" who provided fireworks with Bill Johnson in the final match of a year ago.

Brookes, the grand old man of the game, will be making his second Boston appearances, in all probability, so that his progress will be noted with unusual interest.

ENGLISHMAN MAKES HOLE IN 123 STROKES; A RECORD

The following incident, which occurred in London, is printed as a "consolation" to those enterprising golfers who never say die:

"Perseverance, obstinacy—call it what you will—leads some players to extraordinary lengths, to say nothing of the compilation of some extraordinary scores. A man playing at Hertfordshire recently took 123 strokes for one hole. It was a short affair, the green being placed at the top of a steep hill, but even so the player was absolutely necessary to put the ball on the green from the tee, or it would roll back to its starting point. The golfer failed time after time, but try as he would he could not reach the top where safety lay. As fast as he played the ball came rolling back to him with a heart-breaking pertinacity. But he succeeded at last and holed out in 123, probably the record for the highest score for any one hole."

EPINARD RUNS HALF MILE IN 51 SECONDS

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 13.—Epinard, French thoroughbred, galloped a half-mile in 51 seconds today in his first real workout with Everett Haynes, his American jockey up. The going was heavy, but the French star displayed plenty of run.

After the workout Haynes said: "Epinard is apparently in good shape and has benefitted by his stay here."

JOHNSON-JACKSON BOUT IS HELD UP

East Chicago, Ind., Aug. 14.—Jack Johnson, world champion ten years ago, will not meet Tut Jackson in the negro finale of a fight program at the Oswego Arena, Friday night, Mayor Frank Callahan affirmed today after an order of Governor Emmet Branch.

The Governor advised that the bout be called off for the good of boxing.

YEAR-AROUND RACING FOR COAST FANS

Los Angeles, Aug. 13.—Pacific Coast racing fans will not be put down.

During the Winter months race fiends have their fill at Tia Juana, across the border, in Mexico, and now they are crossing the Canadian border for the Summer meets at Victoria and Vancouver, in British Columbia.

This is a long jump, but weekly there are hundreds of Californians who are making the trip in the North.

The season opened on June 18, ran to June 25, both grab August 7 to runs until August 14.

A new track known as Colwood Park will be opened this Summer at Victoria. The plant cost more than $200,000 and is complete, with 250 stables, jockeys' quarters and stewards' rooms.

Betting on the Canadian tracks is under the totalisator system. The betting is supervised by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

According to T. G. Coventry, managing director of the Victoria Racing Association, the British Columbia population is extremely friendly to horse racing, and there is no chance, he says, that hostile legislation will be attempted against the sport.

SULLIVAN AND PEP MARTIN NEXT QUEENSBORO SHOW

Bob Steve (Kid) Sullivan and Vincent (Pepper) Martin have completed a week of hard training for their junior lightweight championship bout scheduled for fifteen rounds at the Queensboro stadium next Monday night. This will be the sixth clash. Their first meeting was in 1917 and Sullivan was returned the winner on a knockout at the old Broadway Sporting Club. In 1922 they met three times, Martin coming through to victory on decision in every start.

Tommy Milton of Harlem and Sammy Cohen of the East Side have been signed for an eight-round semi-final.

PADDEN EASY WINNER IN SCULLING MATCH

Brisbane, Aug., Aug. 12 (A.P.)—J. Padden defeated J. Bell in the best six lengths for the world's professional sculling championship. Padden was defending the title he won last year from D. Hatfield while Fellon was trying to regain the honor he had captured from F. Barry in 1919 only to lose it to him the following year.

CURLEY AND COLE SINGLED OUT AS FOES BY KLAN

the Kluxers are even more hostile toward General Cole.

They have an idea he means to run for Governor of Massachusetts and are planning to "head him off."

They Don't Forgive

For his open and hearty support of Governor Al E. Smith of New York at the Democratic national convention they have not forgiven him, and that is only one of the counts in their indictment.

I mention the program that you may appreciate the active and determined stand they are taking in politics New England over.

There are men they hate as thoroughly and enthusiastically as they do the two I have referred to, but none just now in the public eye.

As I stated some days ago, there are 23,000 Kluxers in New England, or were when I wrote about it.

In Maine there are 9,500. Massachusetts has 4,900, but is forging to the front as a Klan State. Connecticut is third. Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island are not banner States.

Look to Bay State

When the big mass meeting, slated for Maine or Massachusetts in October, is held, it is hoped that there will be a membership of 100,000 in the six New England States, and in this home they are trusting to Massachusetts for the most part.

Organization methods are much the same the country over, except that when there is no klavern in a State, the imperial wizard and his aides have to appoint the pioneers.

The first thing an organizer does in vire territory is to get in touch with a well-to-do with money and an ambition for more power, and a man who owns or controls a hall or even a meeting place in the open.

Usually in seeking a man for klengle the organizer picks out a mayor, a member of the City Council, a first selectman, a chief of police or a legislator.

A Taste of Power

It isn't hard. The politician may not believe in the Klan principles and policies. But he will believe in the Klan's power, if the organizer is eloquent enough. He will be told that the Klan never forgets a friend and will not fail in its gratitude toward the first big man in a community who comes out in its favor.

Business men are told that it is to their interest to join. They will be told of klansmen who have prospered exceedingly by their connection with the K. K. K., and of others who have lost trade because of their refusal to get in.

It is part of the organizer's stock in trade to promise prospective candidates that the Klan will protect them in case they are penalized by aliens who may discover their affiliations.

Personal Grudges

Not in every instance is this protection accorded. The promise and consequent failure to make good constitutes a cause of much trouble and discontent.

There is another side. Every lodge has its loafers and its drones. There are such in every klavern.

Does an incompetent get fired by an alien?

Immediately he demands that the klavern get him another job.

Does a troublemaker lose the support of other anti-Klan elements?

Up goes his voice as he proclaims himself a martyr and demands to know what the boys in the lodge room are going to do about it.

Out of the first ten members secured by an organizer he usually selects the night hawk, klud, cyclops, klav, treasurer, and so forth.

Due to cumulative effect, the growth of a klavern is more rapid after the first few are in and begin to do missionary work.

Lecturers are sent. They talk about the Catholics and the Jews. There is a minor initiation.

Usually the lecturers are not advertised under their own names. Some unknown is advertised. On the night of the public educational meeting he announces he has a cold. Somebody must substitute for him. Usually this somebody is a firebrand from some nearby State.

Must Have Money

In the same way, in securing a hall for the klonklaves of the klavern, the Klan usually uses some other name.

Old-fashioned drinking places and poker clubs usually were disguised as "social clubs" and "charitable and mutual benefit associations"; nowadays the Klan uses the same camouflage.

Collections are being made at Massachusetts meetings of the Klan. The money is to be used to pay the salary and expenses of the lecturer and the rees of the musicians.

Organizers working in territory not unusually hostile or friendly, but just average, feel they have fallen down unless they have 200 members in their klavern by the time the lodge is a month old.

Most of the lecturers at work in the Bay State are from Maine, but a few are from Indiana.

(In tomorrow's article, the last but one, I shall deal with the plan to draw foreign-born Protestants into the Klan; with the numbers who desire the privilege in certain Massachusetts cities and towns; with the mysterious admission of certain super-Nords without the initiatory rites; with odds and ends of Klan ritual and ceremonial.)

"BOOST NEW ENGLAND" PRIZE FOR TOTS

MEMBERS OF ALL NEW ENGLAND WEEK BOSTON CITY COMMITTEE

Three prizes of $10, $5 and $2.50 each have been offered by the Boston Committee for the three best essays written by the school children of Boston on why the people of New England should buy New England made goods. Inset at bottom is of Charles H. Burleigh, of the General Electric Company, chairman of the committee.

The other prizes will consist of New England made goods. In order to give the school children as much time as possible to prepare their essays, the Boston committee, at a meeting in the library of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, decided to take the matter up at once with the school committee.

The Boston committee also decl to take matter up at once with New England-made goods in their advertisements so that the buying public may become familiar with New England industries.

CHARMING GIRL ENTRIES CLOSE ON AUG. 23

Does Greater Boston contain any CHARMING girls?

The Boston American thinks it does. What do you think about it? Perhaps you know a girl you regard as charming. Almost everybody does.

If you do, why not nominate her as your candidate for the week's free trip to Atlantic City which the Boston American will give to the girl or woman between fourteen and thirty years of age whom the judges regard as the MOST CHARMING person entered.

Boston American readers are urged to send in their entries without delay as this tournament will POSITIVELY end on Saturday, August 23 at noon. All entries received after that time will be excluded, so don't delay girls.

Remember that a girl may enter herself or a friend may nominate her. All that is necessary to enter self or friend is to fill out the coupon in the American and send with photograph to "Charming Girl" Editor of this newspaper.

The American hopes that the girl or woman chosen to represent this city as "Miss Boston" during the Atlantic City pageant from September 2 to 8 will be so alluring that she will also be chosen by the national beauty tournament judges as "Miss America." That honor will go to the MOST CHARMING girl in the United States.

What Boston girl wouldn't want to win the title of "loveliest girl in America?"

"What constitutes charm?" asked a young woman who planned to enter the American's tournament.

We refer all applicants to Webster's dictionary which says that "charming" means, fascinating, bewitching, captivating, delightful, enrapturing, winning or irresistible.

How about it girls—do you think you may place yourself within the meaning of these adjectives? You who are thinking of nominating a friend—do any of these words accurately describe her? If so, mail the coupon and photograph NOW. Don't delay.

FAMOUS FIRSTS

By Mark Stuyvesant

It was the dazzling lure of gold which prompted Fernando de Soto to leave his wife and friends and sail for the New World. He had just settled down to a quiet, happy family life after many years of exploration and adventure in Panama, Guatemala, Yukatan and Peru. With Pizzarro, his patron, he had helped to conquer the land of the Incas and proudly returned to spend with it a fortune.

But soon after his return story after story reached the ears of the great gold miner which lay in Florida untouched, unclaimed—waiting for the man who could explore the land. Wanderlust seized him once more and his avaricie grew. De Soto determined to make these gold mines his. He sold most of his property in Spain, bade his family and friends farewell and started off with hundreds of soldiers and horses. Little did De Soto know that when he boarded his vessel for America in 1538, he had set foot on his native soil for the last time.

De Soto landed on the west coast of Florida in the following year and started eagerly on his search for gold. He marched his men through all the thick forests, swampy marshes and wilderness of unexplored land. They were subjected to all sorts of hardships for he was a firm matter who stopped at little to reach his goal.

There was no gold in Florida—De Soto soon learned that. But he had the heart of a conqueror who would never acknowledge defeat, and he urged his men on and out of Florida's swamps toward the west. He was determined to return home a glorious victor—a hero with his pockets clanking.

Two years later De Soto reached the Mississippi River. He has since been known as the discoverer of that river because he was the first white man to see it. In the Summer of 1542 De Soto fell ill with fever and died a disappointed, heartbroken man. And somewhere in the depths of that swift Mississippi the body of its discoverer lies buried.

For years Senora De Soto and his many friends waited for De Soto's return. It was not until those soldiers, who were fortunate enough to escape mishap, returned to Spain, that they were told of his death.

The Helping Hand

Can't Go to School

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl fifteen years old, the second oldest in a family of six children. My father has had two very serious operations in March and hasn't been able to work since. We are all badly in need of clothing. I would like to go to high school very much this Fall, but can't as I haven't the clothing. I wear a 4 shoe. I need a coat, hat and sweater, and anything else will be acceptable. My brother, 12, takes a 16-year-old size; boy nine, a 10-year size, and there are two little girls, 6 and 7. My mother is very handy in making over things, and any clothing that could be made over could be made use of, and gratefully received.

MILDRED C.

Gives Baby Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

Kindly send the name and address of some expectant mother as I have some baby clothes that I would be glad to give to her.

MRS. L. E. H.

Thanks for your welcome offer. We are sending you the address of Mrs. J. B. H., mother of three small children, expecting the stork, and whose husband has been out of work the past six months.

Needs Carriage

Editor Helping Hand:

Do you know of anyone who has a baby carriage to give away, also a Winter coat, size 40 or 42. My husband has been sick, also the children, and I am not able to buy one. I have three babies. I can't take two of them out because they are too young to carry. The oldest one is only two and the other one is age and the baby is three months old. Thanking you.

MRS. L. R. S., Revere.

For Little Stranger

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you please send me the name and address of some mother who is expecting a little stranger in a month or two, as I have quite a few things to send as I am going to put my baby in short clothes as soon as I can get some for her.

MRS. S.

Thank you. We are sending you the address of Mrs. J. M., who is greatly in need of the baby things you have.

Wants a Go-Cart

Editor Helping Hand:

I am the mother of six children. My husband has been in the hospital for one year and six months with T. B. My baby has just come from the hospital. I wonder if some kind-hearted person would give my baby a go-cart so I may have her out in the air. I would be very happy if I could only take her out. I thank you if you can possibly help me.

MRS. G.

Gives Baby Carriage

Helping Hand Editor:

I have a large baby carriage in very good condition for any poor family who could call for it any morning.

Thank you for this welcome offer. We are asking Mrs. J. McD., mother of four small children to call for the carriage.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney

Boston Health Commissioner

Dr. Mahoney

HEAT prostrations are following in the wake of soaring August temperatures.

The best advice, of course, is to keep out of the sun and "take it easy," but most people find it necessary to conduct their business in Summer as well as Winter.

The main thing, then, if we must carry on regardless of temperature, is to keep ourselves as cool as possible. Another column has been devoted to summer foods, but we may repeat that light foods help to keep down the heat of the body.

Wear light clothes—light in weight and color. A light straw or Panama hat that allows plenty of ventilation is better than a tight hat or none at all. A lightweight suit of any of the popular Summer materials is a good investment in hot weather. A soft collar needs no recommendation and is infinitely better than a stiff one which may hinder circulation and induce heat.

First aid in sunstroke consists first of all in removing the patient from the sun and placing him in a reclining position. Loosen the clothes and bathe the head, neck and chest in cold water. Send for the doctor immediately. A stimulant is needed, but should be left to the physician to administer.

There are two distinct appearances in patients suffering from sunstroke or heat exhaustion.

If the face is hot and flushed, the cooling treatment referred to, should be given. If the face is pale, however, and cool, warmth should be applied to the patient. Strong ammonia should be held to the nostrils and hot coffee given him. In either case, the accident is serious and the patient may die if quick treatment is not available. A physician should be summoned in either instance.

Remember: There are two forms of heat prostration. The hot, flushed face requires the cooling treatment. The pale, cool face requires warmth and stimulation. The first follows exposure to the sun; the second may follow hard work or confinement in close hot air.

Avoid alcohol in hot weather. Men who drink and those weakened ny other causes are usually more affected by the sun's rays than healthy persons.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Please tell me of a shampoo which will make my hair thick?

A. G.

Go without a hat as much as possible. Shampoo your hair only with one of the good, pure soaps which are on the market. Massage your scalp with finger tips after shampoo.

Small yellow spots become inflamed and itch at night and are dislodged during the night. Can you tell me the cause of these pimples?

MRS. M. E.

The cause of the yellow specks on your tonsils is undoubtedly due to particles of food becoming imbedded in the crypts of the tonsils and decaying. It might be well for you to have your family physician look at your throat.

Am six feet, weight 218. I perspire very easily from the heat. Can you make anything from this?

J. F. B., Boston.

Perspiration is a normal physiological condition of the human body. I am afraid that I can suggest nothing to do away with the condition which you describe.

I have pimples on my face and back. What can be done for these beads?

R. B. L., Lawrence.

Devote your time to improving your general health by outdoor exercise, plain, nourishing food and avoid late hours.

FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Can you imagine a farmer going to bed and waking up in the morning to find that plowing has been going on on his farm all through the night without the aid of either human hand or beast?

A dream, a fairy tale?

No. Active steps are now under way to make this a reality.

That's only one aim of a movement now in progress to revolutionize farming and farm life throughout the United States. Although the public know little or nothing about it, this is probably the most fundamental, the most important, the most vital economic development launched in recent years.

California and the States in the Pacific Northwest lead the nation—lead the world—in the application of electricity to farming practices. For this there is a reason—several reasons.

First, there is necessity for pumping water from subterranean streams and lakes to the surface of the ground to transform the desert into productive agricultural land. It has been proved that electric pumping is the most efficient, most economical method, and inasmuch as the greater portion of this pumping can be carried on at night, very low rates for electrical energy are made possible.

But in other sections of the country the problems of rural electrification are not as simple. Lacking the natural resources in the form of waterpower, the more expensive steam electric generation has to be depended upon. Lacking the "base load" of power for irrigation, the average farm of necessity must develop or practice power applications which will give the "base load," or steady demand, for electrical energy if the farmer is to enjoy a wholesale rate. In this as in other industries business economics must rule.

Visioning the future demand for electricity on the farm, leaders of the electrical industry, through the National Electric Light Association, conferred with officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the American Society of Agriculture Engineers, the Inland Farming Association, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Secretary of the Interior Work and Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

These conferences instead of missing at forcing electricity upon the farmer, have set out to learn from him how to protect the American farmer from exploitation in the electrical field, how to protect him from getting ahead too rapidly with farm electrification before suitable applications and practices have been worked out.

* * *

The results will be told in tomorrow's column.

GERMANS SEEK MILLIONS IN AMERICA

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

Uninformed as to the usual aftermath of great wars, it will seem strange to many of us that the Germans today are seeking millions of dollars in the United States.

Germany's great economic machine is materially improved through consolidation of interests and the institution of modern devices, awaits the economic fuel which can only be furnished in large volume by the United States. Lack of capital is delaying Germany's economic rehabilitation.

Two of New York's best-known bankers, Otto H. Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Co., returning from European trips expressed optimism over the outlook abroad and predict the greatest in the very near future of the much-discussed German loan.

Mr. Sisson made the interesting statement that one of the two chief factors in the conference in London has been Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co. Indications point to one syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. to handle the American portion of the loan to Germany. Mr. Sisson said, the size of this portion will probably be $100,000,000, according to the bankers. For a long time eight per cent was talked of, but Mr. Sisson believes they have finally decided on fifty per cent.

"Europe is recovering very rapidly," Mr. Kahn said. "I think the German loan will be consummated in the very near future."

Mr. Sisson said:

"All inside information from abroad gives an indication of speedy settlement on the German loan. There is every indication that settlement will be satisfactory to the American investor. The outlook is very hopeful and the situation encouraging.

"From indications it is probable the settlement will come within the next two weeks, because all obstructions have been cleared away, and things made ready for settlement.

"The whole atmosphere has cleared wonderfully and things generally are very encouraging abroad."

Along with Mr. Lamont, Mr. Sisson and Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has been one of the chief factors in the London conferences.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company

First Mortgage Gold Bonds, due July 1, 1948

Bearing 5% Interest

Closed Mortgage. Not Subject to Redemption Before April 1, 1945

All or any part of the First Mortgage Gold Bonds bearing 5% interest may be repurchased by the Company on April 1, 1945 or any semi-annual interest date thereafter, on three months' previous notice and upon payment of a premium of 1¼% for each three months from the date of repurchase to the date of maturity,

Interest payable April 1 and October 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500 with privilege of registration as to principal and exchangeable for bonds registered as to both principal and interest,

For further information regarding the Company and this bond issue, reference is made to a letter from Gen. M. Shriver, Esq., Senior Vice-President of The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned and from which the following is quoted:

"These Bonds will be issued under the first mortgage of the Company dated July 1, 1898, and the principal, as well as interest at the rate of 4% per annum, will be secured by the lien of that mortgage. As the terms of that mortgage provide for interest at the rate of 4% per annum, the additional interest cannot be secured thereunder, but the Company will agree in a supplemental indenture that in the event that it should hereafter place any new mortgage upon the property securing these Bonds (on which the Refunding and General Mortgage is also a lien) the additional 1% interest which these Bonds bear is to be secured by a lien prior to any bonds issued under such new mortgage.

The proceeds of the sale of these bonds are to be applied toward the retirement of an equal face amount of the Company's Prior Lien 3½% Gold Bonds, due July 1, 1925.

The First Mortgage Bonds, upon the retirement of the Prior Lien Bonds above mentioned and the $5,000,000 Schuylkill River East Side Railroad Company First Mortgage 4% Gold Bonds, due June 1, 1925, for the retirement of which latter issue the necessary cash has already been deposited with the Trustee of that Mortgage, will be secured by a first lien, as hereinafter stated, on 1,685 miles of first main track, 978 miles of second track and 1,693 miles of other track and also upon valuable stations, yards, elevators, piers, shops and other terminal properties in the cities of Philadelphia, Pa.; Wilmington, Del.; Baltimore, Brunswick and Cumberland, Md.; Grafton, Parkersburg, Fairmont and Wheeling, West, Va.; Connellsville and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Willard, Ohio; Garrett, Ind., and South Chicago, Ill.; also the freight facilities at Washington, D. C., and the Company's one-half interest in the extensive coach and engine yard at that point, as well as upon the equipment of the Company, or its interest therein, having a present net value after depreciation, over equipment trust certificates outstanding, of over $97,000,000. This mileage comprises the main lines of the Company between Philadelphia, Pa.; Baltimore, Md.; Washington, D. C.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Parkersburg and Wheeling, West Va., and also from Akron, Ohio, to Chicago, Ill., and constitutes part of the main lines of the Company's system between most of these points and Cleveland, Toledo and Cincinnati, Ohio, Louisville, Ky., St. Louis, Mo., and other western centers and points on Lake Erie. The First Mortgage will be a direct first lien on 880 miles of first main track, 494 miles of second main track and 952 miles of other track of the above mentioned mileage, and a first lien on the remaining 805 miles of first main track, 484 miles of second main track and 741 miles of other track, by the pledge of all the funded or other obligations and of all or practically all, but in no case less than 99% of the entire capital stock of constituent companies, except the Baltimore Belt Railroad Company in which case the entire issue of First Mortgage Bonds is pledged under this mortgage and the stock under the Refunding and General Mortgage and about three miles are covered by a lease running to the year 2002. The terminal properties, etc., above mentioned, are covered by a first lien either directly or through pledge of securities. The net book value of the property devoted to transportation purposes, which will be subject to the lien of the First Mortgage, after depreciation and over equipment certificates outstanding, is $386,500,000, which the executive officers of the Company believe is considerably less than its actual value.

The First Mortgage Bonds are a lien on these properties prior to the bonds (including the 4½% Convertible Gold Bonds) secured under the Refunding and General Mortgage, of which there are at present outstanding or pledged as collateral a total of $197,000,000.

The total income of The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for the year ended December 31, 1923, applicable to the payment of interest on its bonded debt, rentals and other fixed charges, amounted to $50,565,650, while interest, rentals, taxes, etc. (other than Federal income taxes) for the same period, amounted to $25,743,644. For 1924, even assuming a 20% decrease in freight traffic compared with the preceding year, such total income is estimated at $44,000,000 as against interest and other charges of $27,800,000, including the additional interest on this issue of bonds. The annual interest payment required on the First Mortgage Bonds, including the present issue, is $7,030,000.

For the five years ended December 31, 1923, the net income after deducting dividends paid was $30,528,000, of which $17,500,000 was applied to the retirement of funded debt and to additions and betterments to the Company's properties.

The total authorized amount of the First Mortgage is limited by the terms of the Refunding and General Mortgage to $157,000,000, of which there are at present outstanding $82,000,000 of 4% Bonds, which, with the present issue of $75,000,000 Bonds, closes this mortgage.

Both principal and interest of the Bonds will be payable in gold coin of the United States of America without deduction for any tax or taxes which the Railroad Company may be required to pay or to retain therefrom under any present or future law of the United States of America or of any state, county or municipality therein. The Company therefore pays the Federal Income Tax of 2% when deductible at the source.

Application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange."

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE ABOVE BONDS, SUBJECT TO ALLOTMENT, AT 98½% LESS INTEREST AT THE ACCRUING RATE FROM DATE OF PAYMENT TO OCTOBER 1, 1924, TO YIELD OVER 5.10% TO MATURITY.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company Prior Lien 3½% Bonds, due July 1, 1925, will be accepted at 100% and accrued interest, in payment for Bonds allotted, provided that notice of the amount of such bonds to be tendered in payment is given not less than five days prior to the date fixed for delivery of and payment for the new Bonds.

Preference in allotment will be given (to the extent determined in each case to be feasible by the undersigned) to subscribers who agree at the time of subscription to make payment in Prior Lien 3½% Bonds at 100% and accrued interest.

The undersigned reserve the right to close the subscription at any time without notice, to reject any application, to allot a smaller amount than applied for and to make allotments in their uncontrolled discretion.

The above bonds are offered if, when and as issued and received by the undersigned and subject to the approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission and any other public authorities that may be necessary of the issuance and sale of the bonds and to the approval by counsel of all legal proceedings in connection with the issuance thereof. Interim receipts will be delivered against payment in New York funds for bonds allotted, which interim receipts will be exchangeable for engraved bonds when ready for delivery.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Speyer & Co. The National City Company

New York, August 13, 1924.

Subscriptions of the above Bonds having been received in excess of the amount offered, the subscription list has been closed and this advertisement appears as a matter of record only.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

The home-town spirit plus is shown by the big New Bedford store which sells a famous local product at cost. "Introducing New Bedford to New Bedford," the merchant explains.

Amazing thing about this "Boost New England" movement is that it was not initiated years ago. How long have California, Florida, Texas and Canada been showing the way? Answer—"Long enough!"

Canada, Florida, California, Texas, Every "Up and Doing" Community Has Its Minute Men

IF you should visit the fair at Valleyfield, P. Q., this week, one of the big little things likely to attract your attention would be the prominent display of a card bearing the inscription

"PRODUCED IN CANADA"

This card may be seen anywhere and everywhere about the fairground. It will be in evidence next week in Three Rivers, the week after that in Sherbrooke, the following week in Quebec.

A total of 55 exhibitions or fairs are to be held this Fall in various parts of the Province of Quebec and at each and every one the visitor will have it called to his attention that a great many things are "produced in Canada."

What is the purpose of this sort of advertising? The Montreal Star reveals it in two interesting paragraphs:

"For the purpose of impressing on the visitors to the Fall fairs of the Province of Quebec the importance of buying Canadian products, be they livestock or farm or manufactured goods, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association will this year AGAIN conduct its 'Produced in Canada' campaign.

"Cards bearing these words are now being printed in both languages and will be sent, free of charge, to all the fairs and exhibitions in the Province. The movement started FOUR YEARS AGO is gaining popularity, and the exhibitors are only too ready to place the cards supplied by the C. M. A. on their exhibits."

New England visitors to the Sherbrooke Fair have been familiar with this "Produced in Canada" propaganda for the past three years. What is their reaction to it?

Do they resent it?

By no means.

Do they object to it?

Not at all.

What DO they think of it?

They believe it to be useful, patriotic, common-sensible. They say: "These Canadian farmers and manufacturers are wise. They realize that the Canadian will not send his money across the United States border—or across the seas, for that matter—if he can buy a Canadian-made product as advantageously.

"All that our fellow-Canadian wants," the Canadian manufacturer says, "is to be shown. It is OUR business to show him. These 'Produced in Canada' cards will do the business."

That is how the average New Englander reacts to the three-cheers-for-things-made-in-Canada movement, across the line, and that is exactly how the Summer visitor to New England looks upon the buy New-England-made-goods idea which is back of New England Week.

The only mystifying thing about New England Week, about this organized effort to sell New England to New Englanders, is that it has not been done before.

Canada has been busy along these lines for four years. Florida, California, Texas, how long have THEY been at it?

Not long ago the Rotary Clubs of the world held an international convention in the city of Toronto, Canada. The convention brought together several thousand Rotarians from all the corners of the earth.

"I was walking along the street, one day," a delegate told the present writer, "when my attention was drawn to a store which had been taken over on behalf of the State of Florida.

"The doorway, the windows, the shop itself, were filled by the products of Florida.

"There were tons of literature on tap, all about Florida. The place to spend your Winters, the one State in the Union in which to buy a home.

"On the same street, a similar store had been gobbled up on behalf of the State of California, HER climate, HER attractions, HER products.

"The only Toronto rival to these two shows was the way the visitors from the Lone Star State talked about Texas.

"Every Rotarian from Texas was a commercial missionary for his home State. Most of them brought souvenirs, to distribute among the other delegates. The souvenirs were tiny bales of cotton."

As these lines are written a friend calls our attention to an announcement of the annual exposition, fair and get-together of the "New England-Florida Association," to be held this month at one of the lakes in the Berkshire region. On the three-day program are a reception, a Florida ball, an EXPOSITION OF FLORIDA PRODUCTS AND POSSIBILITIES and a "motorcade" over the Mohawk Trail.

"Is it any wonder this State away down South is flourishing like the green bay tree?," the Brockton Enterprise wants to know. "It deserves to prosper, because it has set out to market its wares and goes at it with a vim and vigor which command admiration and respect. How many of the Summer playtime States of New England TURN THE TABLES AND CULTIVATE THE WINTER FIELD OF THE SOUTHLAND AS FLORIDA DOES OUR OWN TERRITORY?

"Who ever hears of the White Mountains, the lakes and shores of Maine and Massachusetts, the Summer charms of Nantucket, the Vineyard and Cape Cod, while Wintering down South? New England is failing to make the most of a real opportunity. You can wager your last dollar Florida never goes to sleep on the job."

And if New England Week proves to be as successful as now appears certain New England is not going to "sleep on the job" any longer.

New England Week will be the week from September 15 to September 20, both dates inclusive.

Its purpose is to make New Englanders acquainted with the products of these six States.

For six days, the merchants of New England will give over their shelves, their counters and their windows to things made or GROWN in New England.

The object is to let New Englanders know which ARE the products of New England. The slogan of the New England Week Committee tells it all:

"TO KNOW NEW ENGLAND PRODUCTS IS TO WANT NEW ENGLAND PRODUCTS!"

There isn't any intention in the mind of anyone connected with New England Week to say to the rest of the country, "We're THROUGH with YOU; from this date, henceforth, forevermore, New Englanders will not buy ANYTHING produced outside of New England!"

Nothing of the sort.

The New Englander never was, isn't now and never will be so provincial, so parochial, so asinine.

The proposition is simply this:

When there are two articles side by side on the counter, one of them produced in New England and the other a thousand miles away, the intelligent New Englander will choose the New England-made article IF quality and price recommend it to him.

And why?

In order that his own section may obtain the benefit which will come to it through wage distribution.

In other words, in order to keep New Englanders at work, in shoe shop and cotton mill, in the workshop and on the farm.

Other sections of the country have the advantage of a thirty-year jump on us. Their methods frequently have entertained and sometimes have amused us. Lately, they have been INSTRUCTING us. The recent industrial depression served as an alarm-clock. New England is awake.

Day by day, hour by hour almost, the New England Week Committee learns how one community after another is stepping into line.

Well out at the head of the procession is the city of New Bedford.

While the merchants of New Bedford are observing New England Week the manufacturers of the city will be conducting an exposition of their own, in the Pleasant-street armory.

New Bedford leads all the cities of the world in the manufacture of fine cotton goods. Her humid climate makes possible the spinning of the finest cotton yarns at least expense. Her 68 mills give employment to 36,000 persons.

But New Bedford makes other things than fine cottons. She makes tools, dies, silverware, cut glass, shoes, paper goods, soap, biscuit, mechanical and steam toys, electrical devices, carriages. The industrial exposition, under the auspices of the Board of Commerce, will show them all.

And the merchants of New Bedford?

If the course recently adopted by the largest dry goods house of the city may be taken as a criterion the merchants of New Bedford will answer the call of New England Week with enthusiasm.

Three weeks ago, this store inaugurated a sale of one of the best known products of New Bedford mills AT COST.

The slogan of this unique sale was "Not a penny profit."

The sale was advertised as, "for two weeks only."

On the fourth day the total sales had exceeded by 100 per cent. the estimates of merchant and manufacturer. It still is going on and will be continued one week longer.

The story of this store is as interesting in its way as the story of New Bedford, which, undismayed by the passing of the whale industry, turned to and developed something one hundred times bigger and better.

Twenty-six years ago, three young dry-goods men of Fall River went to New Bedford and took charge of a then bankrupt business which has become a great four-stories-and-basement establishment employing a permanent staff of 200 persons.

The president of the company is Mr. James H. Mahoney.

"Everybody in our organization," Mr. Mahoney explains, "is an optimist. We have faith in New Bedford and the utmost faith in New England.

"We wanted to do something in a conspicuous way to show our interest in the industries of the community. We knew the textile industry was in a slump, and we determined to select some well known New Bedford product and, selling it at cost, stand the expense of distribution as our contribution to the general welfare.

"We advertised our plan, explained its purpose, filled windows with these famous sheets and pillow cases, erected an attractive booth and started in.

"In the beginning, we felt certain one clerk, or at most two, could handle the business.

"We have had to use four, five and six clerks.

"We were handling a product well known throughout the country but customarily sold at a price a trifle beyond the ordinary New Bedford pocketbook. We sold sheets 81 by 99 inches at the cost price, $3.12, and you should have seen how New Bedford housewives took advantage of their opportunity!

"There was nothing in it for us, except the triple pleasure of advertising a New Bedford product of the highest merit, placing it in hundreds of appreciative New Bedford homes, and helping to run New Bedford looms in a time of industrial slump.

"We could not do as much for a Lowell product, a Lawrence product or a Brockton product, great as is our interest in and affection for New England, but there isn't anything we would not do for New Bedford.

"My own interest is that of a New Bedford man in a New Bedford product and in the people employed in the industry."

The experiment of the store, and the happy result of that experiment, have been the talk of New Bedford. Out of it must come great good.

In this instance, however, the merchant has done and is doing much more, VERY much more, than is expected of any New England businessman in connection with New England Week.

The one thing asked of the merchant in connection with New England Week is that he will display the products of New England, and particularly those of his own locality.

Make it plain, Mr. Merchant, that your New England Week goods ARE New England products. There are scores of ways by which the message can be put across. The benefit will be yours at least as much as anyone else's.

A successful New England Week will disseminate helpful information, bring many inquiries, lead to a buying demand, inspire many orders, because:

"To KNOW New England Products is to WANT New England Products."

And when enough of us know them—and want them—all of us will be busy.

Don't forget the dates!

September 15 to September 20, both dates inclusive.
